

WAYZATA together

November 2021

Wayzata Together aims to do just that, bring Wayzata together by showcasing our community with thoughtful content, local photography and sharing Wayzata's history, honoring the past and focusing on our bright future.

Wayzata is my hometown. I grew up here, walking to Widsten Elementary School Kindergarten through 6th Grade. Widsten is where I initially met my wife. I have so many memories growing up - J.J. Hill Days, the 4th of July bike parade along Broadway Avenue, skating at Klapprich Park, and spending countless summer days at Wayzata Beach. My grandmother came to Wayzata in the 1930s. My grandfather was coaxed away from the Iron Range to become the first manager of the Wayzata's new municipal liquor store in 1947. My great uncle was the commander of the Wayzata Legion. It's an honor to be the publisher of Wayzata Together. Wayzata is my hometown and as a current resident, living here with my wife, daughter, dog and cat, I'm thrilled to share this wonderful community with you.

From The Editor

Thanksgiving is coming up and it's a good time to reflect on what you're thankful for.

I am grateful for so many things.

Of course you're reading this in our publication, Wayzata Together. I am so thankful for all of the support needed to get this bird off the ground. I have fabulous advertising partners, a tremendously supportive family and friends, and two dynamite designers who make the magazine pop!

I'm also grateful for being able to serve my hometown, a place where I live, work, and play.

I'm thankful for walks along Lake Street and the views of Lake Minnetonka.

I could go on and on.

So, what are you thankful for?

With low water temperatures, the fish can be anywhere between five feet to 40 feet of water.

Anglers should use electronics to find where the schools of bait fish are located. Naturally, bigger fish will also be in those locations.

It's advised to slow down your presentation and use bigger baits. That gives the fish a chance to strike.

This time of the year is prime time for Muskie fishing on Lake Minnetonka.

Sailing Superior

Long time Lake Minnetonka resident, Rick Anderson, provides us with some personal photos of his explorations into the far reaches of Lake Superior. Everywhere from Sault Ste. Marie to the Keweenaw Peninsula, the Apostle Islands, Isle Royale, Duluth, up the North Shore and Canada.

Left: Silver Islet was founded in 1868 when silver was discovered by Thomas Macfarlane. The claim was purchased in 1870 by A.H. Sibley. The mine, located beneath the icy waters of Lake Superior, produced $3,250,000 worth of silver ore before it was shut down in 1884. It is known as the world's richest silver mine. Although the mine has been closed for over 130 years some of the original miners homes still stand and summer camps line this historic tourist destination.

Left: Isle Royale is in northern Lake Superior. It's almost 46 miles long, has more than 400 adjacent islands and has numerous lakes on the island itself. It's basically all national park. Its very remote wilderness.. There are no cars on the island and the only way to get to it is by float plane or boat. It's on the National Geographic's list of Best of the World Destinations of 2021.

Empire's Dynasties Fall With Crash as Radicals Take Reins

Kings in Flight, Princes Exiled, Socialists in Saddle While Streets of Hohenzollern Capital Ring with Sounds of Combat.

(By Associated Press.)

William Hohenzollern, the abdicated German emperor and king of Prussia, and his eldest son, Frederick William, who hoped some day to rule the German people, are reported to have fled to Holland.

The revolution which is in progress throughout Germany although it seemingly is a peaceful one, probably threw fear into the hearts of the former kaiser and the crown prince and caused them to take asylum in a neutral state.

Wilhelm II, reigning king of the monarchy of Wurtemberg, is declared to have abdicated Friday night, and reports have it that the grand duke of Hesse, ruler of the grand duchy of Hesse, has decreed the formation of a council of state to take over the government there. Every dynasty in Germany is to be suppressed and all the princes exiled, according to Swiss advices.

Peoples' governments have been established in the greater part of Berlin and in other cities of the kingdom and empire. Leipzig, Stuttgart, Cologne, Essen and Frankfurt have joined the revolution.

Revolt Extends to Nuremberg and Mannheim

Cologne Garrison Sides With Workers' Council Prisoners Freed.

(By Associated Press.)

Austrian, Nov. 10.—Among the latest towns to come under control of the Workers' and Soldiers' councils are Nuremberg, Bamberg, Regensburg, Mannheim, Gladbach and Muenster. A general strike has been proclaimed in Nuremberg and Mannheim.

Order has been restored in Bamberg, where the police have been permitted to resume their duties under the direction of the Workers' and Soldiers' council, and places of public amusement have been reopened.

Soldiers side with Workers.

In Cologne the entire garrison sided with the Workers' council, whose program included, according to the Cologne Gazette, the abolition of all German dynasties, the annulment of all loans, with special consideration for the subscribers from the poorer classes, the liberation of all political prisoners and the abolition of saluting.

The military and civil prisoners in Cologne are in the hands of the council and already all the prisoners have been released. The majority and minority sections of the Socialists have been fused.

Grand Duke to Pay Taxes.

Among the incidents of the revolution in the Netherlands is the grand duke of Saxe-Weimar and his family of the right of exemption from taxation. As Lebedev a lawyer was charged with treason because he advised without authority from the Workers' and Soldiers' council in liberating prisoners.

Scope of Revolution Rapidly Being Widened

(By Associated Press.)

London, Nov. 10.—Active fighting took place in Berlin between Socialists and Communists last night and a violent campaign was heard from the heart of the city.

The revolution is in full swing in Berlin and the Red forces occupy the greater part of the German capital, according to the Copenhagen dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph company, quoting Berlin advices sent from there at 3 o'clock this morning.

Majority Shorn of Power.

In the new German government there will be only three representatives for the majority parties, namely, Brücker, Goebels and Liebknecht, says a dispatch from Copenhagen to the Exchange Telegraph company. The other seats will be occupied by Socialists and Independents.

According to dispatches from Amsterdam and Copenhagen revolution in Germany is extending rapidly.

The German crown prince signed his renunciation to the throne shortly afterwards.

It is believed that King Ludwig III. of Bavaria and King Frederick August of Saxony also have abdicated.

The ex-kaiser and the former crown prince took leave of their troops Saturday, but nothing has been settled regarding their future movements, according to advices from neutral sources.

Washington, Nov. 10.—Frederick Ebert, upon assuming office yesterday as the new chancellor, issued a proclamation announcing the new government at Berlin had taken charge of business to prevent civil war and famine.

Germany Surrenders All Her Rights and Signs the Armistice

Washington Receives Formal Word at 2:45 This Morning, But Announcement Fails to Give Details—Not Known Whether or Not Actual Fighting Has Ceased.

(By Associated Press.)

Washington, Nov. 11.—The world war will end this morning at 6 o'clock Washington time, 11 o'clock Paris time. The armistice was signed by the German representatives at midnight.

The State department announced at 2:45 o'clock this morning.

At first there was no announcement as to whether hostilities had ceased or the hour at which they would cease.

The announcement was made verbally by an official of the State department in this form:

"The armistice has been signed. It was signed at 5 o'clock Paris time, and hostilities will cease at 11 o'clock this morning, Paris time."

The terms of the armistice, it was announced, will not be made public until later.

Military men here, however, regard it as certain that they include:

Immediate retirement of the German military forces from France, Belgium and Alsace-Lorraine.

Disarming and demobilization of the German armies.

Occupation by the Allied and American forces of such strategic points in Germany as will make impossible a renewal of hostilities.

Delivery of a part of the German high seas fleet and a certain number of submarines to the Allied and American naval forces.

There was no information as to the circumstances under which the armistice was signed, but since the German court did not reach German military headquarters until 10 o'clock yesterday morning, French time, it was generally assumed here that the German army had been forced to sign the terms.

Delay of Hours Necessary.

Part of the German army had been in the hands of the Allies for several days, and it was necessary for the delay of the terms and a decision as to whether or not the armistice was to be signed, even though the decision may have been made in Berlin and instructions transmitted from there by the new German government.

Germany has been given until 11 o'clock this morning, French time, 6 o'clock Washington time, to accept the terms, hostilities will end at the hour set by Marshal Foch, in a decision by Germany for peace or for continuation of the war.

The armistice was signed at 5 o'clock Paris time, and hostilities will cease at 11 o'clock this morning, Paris time.

The President a few minutes before it was given to the newspaper correspondents.

Later it was said that there would be no statement from the White House at this time.

London, Nov. 10.—A dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph company from Copenhagen quotes the Polish press as saying that when the former German emperor arrived at Maastriicht he was accompanied by the former emperor.

(By Associated Press.)

Washington, Nov. 10.—William Hohenzollern has arrived in Holland and is proceeding to the town of De Steeg, near Utrecht, according to a dispatch received by the American army general staff today from The Hague.

The message said:

"Press reports state that the former kaiser arrived this morning in Maastriicht, Holland, and is proceeding to Middelcheeten castle in the town of De Steeg, near Utrecht."

De Steeg is on the Gelders Canal, an arm of the Rhine river about 40 miles east of Utrecht and 12 miles from the German border. The château Middelcheeten, in which the former emperor is reported to be proceeding, belongs to Count William Frederick Charles Henry van Bentinck. He is a member of the Prussian guards and before the war was attached to the German embassy in London and a member of the English Turf and Royal Automobile clubs. He is 33 years old. He belongs to the famous Anglo-Dutch-Batavia house of Bentinck, the constant branch of the family of the Duke of Portland.

Middelcheeten castle dates back to the year 1597.

Armistice Day & The Wayzata American Legion

On November 11, 1918 World War I officially ended. During the “eleventh hour of the eleventh day of the eleventh month”, Germany and the Allies signed a peace agreement in France. In a time when radios were not common household appliances, the front page of daily newspapers delivered the joyful news to the town.

Minnesotans throughout the state celebrated in the streets of towns small and big. Minneapolis was home to one of the largest impromptu celebrations. The boys overseas would soon be coming home. Well, some of them would. Unfortunately, many of the local boys who served in World War I would not set foot in Wayzata again.

Within the pages of the 1918 Wayzata yearbook, there was mention of one young man in the History of the Class of 1918 section of the annual:

“One of our boys, Ernest Aselton, heard the call of his country answered it by enlisting in the Marine Corps.” Aselton joined the Marine Corps in August of 1918 and was killed in action in France two months later.

Less than a year after the Great War ended, the Wayzata Legion was granted its charter on September 3, 1919. Arthur H. Quay was the first Commander. Post 118 was named in honor of Aselton.

The name Armistice Day, which celebrated the end of World War I, was changed in the United States to Veterans Day in the mid-50s. Since then, it has been a day to honor those who served the U.S. military.

The Wayzata American Legion Post originally held meetings above the city hall on the corner of Manitoba and Lake Street. In 1948, the Post got its own building which still stands today along Wayzata Boulevard.

Ernest Aselton

The construction of the building was a team effort with Legion members spending evenings, days off and weekends to build the club. There were many young World War II veterans who were willing to volunteer their time to make it happen.

But it wasn't just Legion members who got involved. The community came out in full force to help the cause. Local businesses donated building materials, hardware, plumbing, a furnace, and food for the men working on the weekend. The original building was 30 feet wide and 75 feet wide and consisted of a small bar, kitchen and meeting room. The construction of the new Legion building was a passing of the torch of sorts. While the World War I veterans created the Post, World War II vets made their mark by creating a community hub from the ground up.

In 1963, an addition was made to giving the Legion its current size. In 1990, the Club was remodeled in 1990 adding a kitchen in the back of the building.

The Wayzata American Legion represents pride in the community. It was built on weekends, evenings and days off by people who wanted Wayzata to have a place to meet. It helped form the foundation of what Wayzata is today.

Neighborhood Spotlight: brooke beyer

When you think about it, Wayzata is a pretty small town. It has just a few thousand residents and is extremely compact geographically.

That small town feel is perfect for Brooke Beyer, the event manager for the Greater Wayzata Area Chamber of Commerce.

See, Beyer was raised on a farm in Utica, a tiny town in southeastern Minnesota.

Beyer grew up with two brothers and two sisters.

“I, along with my family, used to show pigs at the State Fair,” said Beyer. “It was a work-vacation for my family as I grew up and I’m sure that’s influenced how I see things like the State Fair or JJ Hill days or other community events - I see them from the production, activation, set up, sponsorship side.”

Beyer has been with the Wayzata Chamber for 10 years now.

“I remember driving down Superior Ave. onto Lake Street, and I just fell in love with the town,” said Beyer. “It was a goose-bumps moment for me, and I just knew I wanted to work here. It’s a real gem!”

Beyer says Wayzata has the best chamber members and volunteers around.

“They make the Chamber what it is, and it’s sort of like a family,” said Beyer. “These people care. And they want to give back. I’m inspired daily. And that’s what I love about Wayzata and this Chamber.”

After a pandemic-caused hiatus, JJ Hill Days was back this year. If you attended the festival, you may have seen Beyer on a golf cart zipping up and down Lake Street making sure the festival was a smooth one.

“I was thrilled and it seems all the attendees were too,” said Beyer. “And so ready to be back. 2020 was hard, but I think it made a lot of us stop and realize how much we loved the everyday events and gatherings.”

Beyer couldn’t be happier planning and running community events in this small town on the north shore of Lake Minnetonka.

The next big event will be the Chilly Open. Yet another opportunity for a community to come together and celebrate a special little town.

Wayzata: A Brief History of Wayzata's First Peoples

Aaron J. Person
Wayzata Historical Society

November is Native American Heritage Month. According to the National Congress of American Indians, the month of November is “a time to celebrate rich and diverse cultures, traditions, and histories and to acknowledge the important contributions of Native people.” November has been officially recognized as Native American Heritage Month since at least 1990.

The history of Wayzata begins about 10,000 years ago when the Laurentide Ice Sheet last receded northward. The area now known as Minnesota was inhabited by people almost immediately as the glacial ice melted year by year. Information about these first peoples, however, is limited due to time. The most common archaeological evidence of these ancestral natives are stone tools.

About 5,400 years ago, traces of a new culture began to emerge in North America. This culture would eventually become known as the “Woodland” culture by archeologists and as the “Mound Builder” culture by many others. This culture was composed of many different peoples who constructed large land features at various points in time. The first “effigy mounds,” as they are called, appeared in present-day Louisiana in about 3400 BCE. These mounds often served spiritual and ceremonial purposes and were sometimes designed to correlate with the cosmos and animals. At least one extant mound in the Wayzata area dates to the Woodland Period. While not as elaborate as those farther south, it has been estimated to be approximately 2,000 years in age.

By about 800 CE (1,200 years ago), a distinct subculture emerged from the broader Woodland culture. This culture is known today as the “Mississippian” culture. The peoples that comprised the Mississippian culture inhabited much of the Midwest, especially the areas near the Mississippi and Ohio Rivers. Many cultural traits were shared by both Woodland and Mississippian peoples, but the Mississippian peoples embraced agriculture and urbanization. Some mounds built during the Mississippian Period were truly massive. The largest Mississippian mound was built at the Mississippian city of Cahokia near present-day Saint Louis – it still exists today and is approximately 100 feet in height. Some mounds from this period exist in Minnesota as well, but none were built to this scale.

When Euro-Americans first started exploring the Minnesota region in the 1600s, the area was mostly inhabited by the Dakota and Lakota people. By the 1700s, however, the Ojibwe people had migrated into northern Minnesota. The Dakota, in turn, migrated southward and started to inhabit the Lake Minnetonka area around this time. While their primary settlements lay within the Minnesota and Mississippi River Valleys, the Mdewakanton Band of Dakota visited Lake Minnetonka regularly to hunt, fish, and harvest wild rice and maple sap. Wayzata itself was the location of a seasonal camp for these activities.

The name “Wayzata” is derived from the Dakota word Waziata (pronounced “wa-zee-ah-tah”). Much of the literature on the subject suggests that Waziata translates to something like “north shore” or “god of the north.” However, some Dakota speakers have suggested that it essentially just means “north.” Indeed, Wayzata is located on the north shore of Lake Minnetonka, the “Big Water.”

Car Accident Injuries

By Dr. Barbro Brost, D.C.
The Brost Clinic

Did you know that in Minnesota your car insurance, by law, has to cover treatments of any bodily injuries related to a car accident? This includes medical and chiropractic care, acupuncture, massage, psychological and any other care necessary to restore you to pre-accident status. Most people don't know that they have this coverage and assume that the car insurance is just for repair of the vehicle or property damage.

With health insurance deductibles getting higher and coverage gradually becoming more limited every year, this information is important to know, should you be involved in a car accident; YOU ARE A HUNDRED PERCENT COVERED! Untreated whiplash or other injuries can lead to long term problems and degenerative disc and joint changes in years to come. If you have an accident, it is important to get a thorough exam by a healthcare provider that is experienced in treating car accident-related injuries. The sooner care can be started- the better the outcome.

If you are severely injured, visit an emergency room for medical care. Mild to moderate injuries, that do not warrant a trip to the hospital, are best treated in a chiropractor clinic. The Brost Clinic has 35 years of experience in treating car accident-related injuries, combining gentle chiropractic care with acupuncture and massage therapy. We have x-ray as well as computerized thermal scan on site and easy access to MRI and CT scans, if necessary. Having treated thousands of car accident victims throughout the years, we are experienced with necessary documentation and communication with insurance companies and attorneys.

If you, or anyone you know, are involved in an accident, give us a call for a free consultation. We are here to help!
