

GPMS.WORLD, Benevolence... and What is Fiat Currency?

14 August 2024

There is no such thing as “non-fiat” currency (i.e. all paper symbols for the value of exchange are foundation-less and exist only by complacent agreement of the masses).

There is no such thing as “non-fiat” evaluation of “precious” metals (currently).

Fiat currency and the valuation of particular items of 3D nature is the placing of value upon pieces of paper and other items by way of propagandized assertion to suggest it is so, and the ultimate acceptance of the global population, that these things are indeed true.

Fiat currency dispersion and precious metal valuation provide outcomes for the global population that are dependent upon the original intents of those who are in control of such programs. The state or well-being of world societies, as of August 2024 is a clear indicator of this intent. It is this particular decay that provides the impetus to introduce and install gpms.world, to provide peace & freedom to every individual of the global population.

The success of a brand new fiat currency program known as the Global People’s Monetary System is contingent upon the benevolent oversight of such a paradigm. And once this is initiated, the original benevolence that is attached to it, is supported and secured by what has been proven as open source technology. It is important that the open source application of such things as a monetary system ensures that infiltrations of self-serving or less than benevolent intentions are rapidly identified, confirmed and eliminated.

The move to establish a People's Monetary System is to firmly proclaim the basic equality of all incarnated beings and then to release these individuals from the oppressive financial burdens that exist, and have existed, in the old world, for millennia. Once this is accomplished and the global population operates within this new system of truth, it will naturally become evident that the medium of “money” is no longer needed. This natural progression should take little more than a year to complete, by current timelines.

Any reluctance to join with such a move to free all humanity will be due to the ages old programming, accomplished through relentless propaganda techniques. This activity essentially provides a false illusion that is actually fed and maintained by the global population itself. The overt symptoms of these things are rapidly becoming more obvious. This will necessitate the need to move to a better modality of living. That modality is the Global People's Monetary System and the concept of open source operations secures it.

Conclusion

Why is global society in the state it's in?

1. "The human being is not inherently possessed with a mechanism to discern truth from falsehood" (David R. Hawkins).
2. Affluent (western) societies are essentially preyed upon, across many divisions, by falsehood (for profit).

These two statements have produced a massive level of discomfort upon the global population. The need to change and establish a globally benevolent society will only come when the discomfort of supporting and experiencing current societal standards overcomes the fear of making change.

Individual pain and discomfort will collectively reach a critical level, by way of enhanced disclosure, sometime in the following three months (from the date of this document). This will provide the impetus for a world majority to wish for the New Earth.

Eternal peace, freedom and abundance, for all of global society, will come forth by way of steadfast benevolent actions and the understanding of this quote – "The seeds of destruction are contained within every thought, word or deed".

The end is certain.
