Topic: My guiding lights – 2 Powerful Principles for confusing times.

Preamble

There are many contradictory situations present during these confusing times. I will not go into them, because if you don't agree with this claim, then you probably wouldn't align with my examples either.

For those who do understand that these contradictory situations are occurring, and also happen to be a little lost or distressed over the matter, this document was made for you.

The 2 principles discussed here are essentially the distillation of my life's work. The results of the distillation are that,

- 1) No questions are unanswered, and
- 2) No fear, distress or confusion is present within my being.

FOR THOSE WHO ALREADY POSSESS UNSHAKABLE FAITH, YOU CAN SKIP THIS NEXT SECTION.

My Foundation

Teens to 1998 – Growing up in a typical North American protestant household, and being uncomfortable with the inconsistencies of the Anglican practice, I researched many religions to find an answer to “the meaning of life”. While some came close to the highest level of truth that I was looking for, I was again uncomfortable with the results.

Foundation Years – 1998 to 2013 – Although in 1998 I didn't know it, the 15 years to follow were going to be the building of a strong & unshakable foundation in my life. It began with the first page of the Urantia Book, included Power vs. Force in between, and concluded with the last page of A Course In Miracles. The Urantia Book was introduced to me by a fellow artist, to whom I am grateful – Thanks Patrick!

The approximately 4,600 pages (3 books) strongly promotes Trust.

And from Trust, Faith easily & naturally follows.

Principle One – “Of God/Not Of God”

My foundation has given me a sense of clarity, which paves the way for this principle. It has been recently pointed out that your heart has ‘intelligence’ and that it is a greater source than your brain (or calculating mind). This is evidenced by the immediate occurrence of a thought that comes into your awareness. i.e. If the next thought/answer comes to you immediately, or in some cases, before the question is even completed, then you know that it is from the heart. Conversely, if you need to rationalize and calculate the answer to a question, you are probably drawing from the past, and this is not an answer from the heart.

I have found, from experience, that this analysis is true.

So, the essence of Principle One is exactly this – When I assess a written word (document, book, etc.), comment, news article, statement, (virtually anything), I ask myself, “Does this sound like this is from God, or not” (heart message, or not). Conversely, if it is not from God, then it must be manmade – or more precisely, manmade, without the guiding principles of God.

Here is an example which has been the guiding force behind the evolution of the species, and is the concept which has resulted in the massive concentration of wealth, limited to a tiny part of the population –

When a person has a serious choice to make, it has often come down to 2 possibilities –

- 1) The possibility of financial gain, or
- 2) The possibility of what is best for the environment & the brotherhood of man.

The environment and the brotherhood of man are one and the same given that we have to live with negative environmental impacts. Intelligent & good willed people have managed to marry the 2 possibilities, and come up with a solution which satisfies both. This is simply illustrated by the conduct of owners of some European companies (& others). Here, the profit line would be somewhat reduced as compared with general practice, but all involved with the company, from the bottom to top, have an enjoyable and rewarding lifestyle.

There are many, many examples where this first principle can be illustrated.

Principle Two - "Follow the Money"

This has been stated for a long time now. The strength of this statement is massive, and undermines the falsity prevalent now, in a great number of situations. If it was used more often, I dare say, that we would not even be in the situation that we are negotiating today.

From a purely financial perspective, one of the best examples on the planet today would be the pharmaceutical industry, of which is wealthier than all the military budgets in the world, combined. Without going into the specifics of the harm caused, which are clear & startling, on their own, here are the details from recent history, involving vaccination:

Year	Vaccines per Child	Annual Revenues
1960	4	287 Million
2020	72	60 Billion

Additionally, 500 Billion is being made annually, issuing drugs to mitigate the 'side effects' of vaccine damaged people. Of course, these are not 'side effects', but rather DIRECT EFFECTS.

If something does not feel wrong here, and if a person wants to continue to believe that everything is working for their best interest, then that is their right. However, this is just one example of the variety of incomes available to the pharmaceutical industry. This kind of wealth is unfathomable for just about everyone living today. With this kind of wealth, do you not think that control of the public narrative would be advantageous to keep that money train rolling? If only for the sustenance of the train itself?? (see Principle One)

Given that North America has the largest healthcare budget on the planet and one of the sickest populations on the planet....conclusions are easily drawn.

Conclusion

This is a document intended to add power to the thought process when a person needs to make the best decision. Answers based upon rationalizations of the past can be muddied by inaccuracies and biased or conflicting interests. While following the two principles outlined, some of the mud can be cleared up and a higher truth may be concordantly revealed.

In this process, receiving answers from the heart will never lead a person astray, for obvious reasons. The difficulty lies in the motivations of particular people on the planet. When these motivations are present, no connection to the heart (immediate answers), is possible.

I leave you with a quote from the Urantia Book -

“No social system or political regime which denies the Reality of God can contribute in any constructive and lasting manner to the advancement of human civilization.” 195:10.7 (2084.7)

Also from Dostoyevsky: “Where there is no God - all is permitted.”

It is these statements that should be remembered in this “last dark year of human history” and as the remaining months play out.
