

Emergency

Preparedness Course

Wednesday, March 25th at 5:30pm at
Town Bank Community Center (820 E Geneva St, Delavan)

Emergency Communications

When disaster strikes, the ability to communicate effectively is critical. This class will cover communication planning, alternative communication methods, and practical strategies to help you prepare for communication outages so you can stay connected and informed when traditional systems fail.

Class is free in-person or virtually! Visit Aram Library's event page (link in the caption) if attending virtually.
