

Other Security Consulting Services

Paragon Risk Mitigation can provide services on an informal basis as required to meet your specific needs. If you need assistance in solving a particular problem or would just like the opinion of an outside security professional, Silva Consultants can help.

Examples of services that we can provide on an informal, “ad hoc”, or retainer basis can include:

- Providing advice concerning a specific security problem or situation.
- Providing a second opinion on security related issues.
- Providing assistance in locating a specific security product or service.
- Development of job descriptions for security management or staff positions.
- Providing assistance with the interviewing and evaluation of candidates for security positions.
- Evaluation of security vendor performance.
- Evaluation of security systems technology.
- Providing assistance at security presentations to senior management.

Contact us today for a free, no-obligation quotation on what it would cost for us to provide security consulting services for your organization.
