

Dear Parents,

November has arrived already! We are stepping into the colder months, and while the temperatures may drop, we will still continue to have recess outside. Please make sure your child has warm clothing each morning for the weather.

The children will be performing a poem for our Remembrance Day Assembly next week and will begin practicing this for homework starting this week. We will also have our 3 Way Conferences at the end of the month, and the students will begin preparing for this in school.
