

DISCUSSION GUIDE

- What is the setting of New Dragon City? How does it play a role in the story?
- What are the main problems or challenges that Noah and Asha face in the book?
- Do Noah and Asha make good choices in the story? Can you think of alternative choices they could have made?
- How does the author use descriptive language to help you visualize the scenes and characters in the story?
- Can you relate to any of the characters in the book? In what ways are they similar to or different from you?
- What is your favorite scene or moment in the book and why?
- Noah's father and mother believe very different things about dragons and Noah feels caught in the middle. Can you think of a situation where you felt caught in the middle with family or friends? How did you deal with it?
- Noah loves the library. If you could take one book out of the library and not have to return it, which book would it be and why?
- Noah spent three years underground without friends or internet. Do you think you could survive in this kind of setting? What would you do to stay entertained?
- Noah and Asha can talk to one another without speaking. If you had this power with one other person, who would you want it to be?

DISCUSSION GUIDE

- What is the setting of Dawn of the Dragons and how does it differ from the setting of New Dragon City?
- What is your favorite scene or moment in the book and why?
- What were you wondering as you read this book?
- If you found a baby dragon in the woods like Lucas did, would you take it home?
- What feelings might you have if someone told you dragons were coming to destroy the world? How would you cope with them?
- No one believes Noah when he says the dragons are coming. Can you think of a time when no one believed you about something that was true? How did it make you feel?
- The kids must determine if a video is real or made with AI. Have you been tricked by an AI video that looked real? What do you think about these fake videos?
- What was the most exciting or surprising part of this book?
- Were you surprised to learn where the dragons came from? Did you have a different theory?
- Does this book make you want to read more stories set in this world?