Are you confused with food labeling? Don't worry, many others feel the same. There is no uniform or universally accepted system used for food dating in the U.S.

Useful Tips to Help:

- Open Dating: Use of a calendar date as opposed to a code on a food product is a date stamped on a package to help the store determine how long to display the product for sale. It is not a safety date!
- Sell By Date: Tells the store how long to display the product for sale. You should buy the product before the date expires.
- Best If Used By/Before Date: Recommended for best flavor or quality. It is not a purchase or safety date!
- Use By Date: The last date recommended for the use of a product while at peak quality. The date has been determined by the manufacturer of the product.

Guidelines from USDA for Food Safety:

- Purchase the product before the date expires.
- If perishable, take food home immediately and refrigerate promptly at 40 degrees.
- If you can't use it...Freeze it!
- Certain foods can be stored longer following purchases before freezing.
- Poultry, ground meat or uncooked sausage should be stored no longer than 1-2 days before freezing.
- Beef, veal, pork and lamb for 3-5 days.
- Cured ham can be stored for 5-7 days.
- Eggs may be stored for 3-5 weeks after purchase.
- When in doubt...Throw it out!

Thank you to all who helped set up with the Altar & Rosary Society Dinner. We had a nice little turn out and everyone had a great time.

As a reminder, if you are not able to attend, please mark your name off of the sign-up sheets or contact one of the A/R members or Jennifer to let them know. Thank you!
