Know the Difference Between Migraines & Headaches

Headaches and Migraines are often used interchangeably, but they represent distinct conditions with different causes, symptoms, and treatment approaches.

Headache:

- Headaches are a common symptom experienced by almost everyone at some point.
- They can be Primary or Secondary.
 *Primary: Tension headaches & cluster headaches occur independently and are not caused by another medical condition.

*Secondary: Caused by underlying medical conditions such as sinus infections, head injuries, or medication overuse.

- Tension Headaches are the most common type, characterized by a dull, aching pain that typically affects both sides of the head.
- Cluster Headaches are excruciating headaches that occur in clusters or groups, usually on one side of the head, and often accompanied by symptoms like eye watering, nasal congestion and restlessness.

Migraine:

- Migraine is a type of primary headache disorder characterized by recurrent, throbbing headaches accompanied by other symptoms.
- There are several types of migraine attacks including:
 *Migraine without Aura: Typically characterized by moderate to severe throbbing pain on one side of the head.
 *Migraine with Aura: Warning signs before the onset of a migraine attack include visual disturbances, sensory changes, or difficulty speaking.
 *Chronic Migraine: Occur 15 or more days per month for at least 3 months with at least 8 of those days meeting the criteria for migraine or responding to migraine-specific treatment.
- Triggered by various factors including: hormonal changes, certain foods, stress, sensory stimuli, changes in sleep patterns, and environmental factors.
- Migraine attacks typically progress through four phases:
 * Prodrome
 * Aura (for those who experience it)
 * Headache
 * Postdrome

Each phase can present with different symptoms & experiences

Save The Dates:

Come join us for Catholic Family Night-Out and support the Danville Dans as they play Decatur on Tuesday, June 30th at 6:30pm.

We will let you know as soon as tickets are available.

This year’s Family Golf Outing will take place on Sunday, August 9th at 2:00pm at Turtle Run Golf Course. As the event gets closer we will have more information on how to register for this event. Hope to see you all there!
