Post Traumatic Stress Disorder (PTSD)

Post Traumatic Stress Disorder (PTSD) is a mental health problem that can only develop after you go through or see a life-threatening. It's normal to have stress reaction to these types of events, and most people start to feel better after a few weeks. If symptoms last longer than a month and are causing problems in your life, it could be PTSD. Learn about PTSD symptoms and treatments to help you recover.

4 Types of PTSD Symptoms:

- Reliving the event/Re-experiencing symptoms: Memories of the traumatic event can come back at any time.
- Avoiding things that remind you of the event: Situations or people, or even talking and thinking of the event.
- Having more negative thoughts & feelings than before the event: The way you think about yourself or others may become more negative because of the trauma.
- Feeling on edge of keyed up (Hyperarousal): You may be jittery or always alert and on the lookout for danger. You might suddenly become angry or irritable.
