Why choose a Bernadoodle?

Have you owned a Bernadoodle or any other dog kind of dog in the past?

Bernadoodle have unique coats, they aren't always fully hypo allergenic. The cross that we breed will have a good chance of being non-shedding and hypo allergenic. They will be estimated at about 87% poodle in the cross. They will shed less due to the smaller combination of a Bernadoodle and larger DNA of a Poodle in our program, the coat will be less triggering to allergies. Also, the coat will need upkeep which involves regular grooming, cutting and brushing. The coat is beautiful and in order to keep that unique beauty it needs to be cared for regularly. Will you educate yourself and be willing to take to the groomer or regularly keep up on your own by trimming and brushing?
