Let's Put ALS on ICE

Join us for an action-packed day of hockey, history, and hope as we come together to support families afflicted with ALS. The Boston Bruins Alumni, led by Hall of Famer and Captain Ray Bourque, will face off against The Blue Line Blues—a team of competitive players and frontline workers dedicated to fighting ALS.

"Let's Put ALS on ICE" was founded to make a positive impact on those living with ALS today. Building on the legacy of Pete Frates (inspiration behind the Ice Bucket Challenge), funds raised for this event helps enable direct patient care by providing essential financial assistance and home health care support to families to help patients retain #dignity.

The Matchup: The Bruins Alumni vs. The Blue Line Blues, a team inspired by the life of Jon C. Shepard (a frontline worker and avid goalie) and honoring law enforcement and families battling ALS

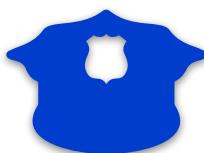

Boston Bruins Alumni

The Boston Bruins Alumni has raised more than $15 million for charities and youth hockey programs. It is through the support, generosity and interest of our fans, our collaborators and our sponsors that they have been able to achieve that goal.

When the Bruins legends skate onto the ice, hockey history comes alive again. Fantasy Fun for Families in need.

The Boston Bruins Alumni, led by Captain and HOF Ray Bourque, will face-off against The Blue Line Blues who are a team comprised of former and current competitive ice hockey players who have dedicated their passion for ice hockey to help raise awareness and funds for families who have been presented with the challenges, both personal and financial, due to ICE ALS Warriors afflicted with ALS.
