

NAVAL ORDER OF THE UNITED STATES

The Naval Order of the United States cordially invites you to a presentation by CAPT John Rodgaard, USN (Ret) co-author of From Across the Sea: North Americans in Nelson's Navy (From Reason to Revolution)

Our Guest: CAPT John A. Rodgaard

“...Audiences from naval history scholars to students to those just interested in the naval heritage of the United States, Canada, and Great Britain will find the book enjoyable and enlightening.”

-Book Review
International Journal of Naval History
Stanley D.M. Carpenter, Ph.D.

About the Author

CAPT John A. Rodgaard has over 41 years with the naval service of the United States, to include 12 years as a petty officer and 29 years of commissioned service as a naval intelligence officer. He is also a published author and a contributor to several Discovery Channel Unsolved History Television Programs. Captain Rodgaard co-authored A Call to The Sea: Captain Charles Stewart of The USS Constitution, and authored A Hard Fought Ship: The Story of HMS Venomous. He is the recipient of the Naval Institute's History Author of the Year for the year 1999 and he is a contributor and frequent reviewer to the Naval Institute's Naval History Magazine, The Society for Nautical Research Quarterly, The Mariner's Mirror, and the Naval History Foundation's Naval History Book Reviews. Captain Rodgaard holds a B.A. in History and Political Science; an M.A. in Political Science, and is also a graduate of the U.S. Naval War College.

FROM ACROSS THE SEA: North Americans in Nelsons Navy

From Across the Sea: North Americans in Nelson's Navy explores the varied contributions of North Americans to the Royal Navy during Great Britain's wars against Revolutionary and Napoleonic France. It is the first book that explores this topic in depth. As an edited compilation, top specialists in the field have contributed thematic essays (on topics ranging from impressment to the Anglo-American maritime relationship) as well as biographical essays on a range of North Americans from both the officer ranks and the lower deck. For the biographical portraits, special attention has been paid to individuals who have not already been the subject of extensive research and writing. Accompanying these essays are several never-before-published illustrations depicting some of the key North Americans as well as the ships and naval battles in which they were a part. Audi

The book's central focus is to challenge the common assumption that the Nelsonic-era Royal Navy was manned exclusively by British sailors and officers. Instead, Royal Navy personnel from this era often hailed from different parts of the world, with North Americans comprising a particularly significant contingent. For instance, Nelson's fleet at Trafalgar had hundreds of Americans as well as Canadians, not to mention individuals from the Caribbean. Thus, From Across the Sea sheds new light on these sailors and officers, showcasing years of original, primary source research on the subject.

The book also challenges the misconception that all North American-born sailors who served in the Royal Navy were pressed into service. Instead, a significant number volunteered for service of their own free will, lured into the Royal Navy by visions of adventure and prize money. Others volunteered more reluctantly, figuring that joining the Royal Navy on their own terms was preferable to being forced in by a press gang. Thus, From Across the Sea reveals that impressment was a more complicated topic than most generally assume.

Over all, From Across the Sea concludes that North Americans played an integral role in the Royal Navy during the Wars with France, from the lower deck all the way to the highest levels of command. While some of these North Americans operated in relative obscurity, others achieved high rank and formed lasting friendships with some of Great Britain's foremost naval leaders of the age, including Lord Nelson and King William IV. Theirs is a story that needs to be told, and now it has been told for the first time through From Across the Sea.

Reviews

“There are fascinating and insightful tidbits within these pages that enlighten and expand our knowledge; at the same time, the information offers up possibilities for future in-depth research. The primary goal of this book is to show that men outside of Britain fought valiantly for king and country, and the editors and contributors have done a laudable job in this endeavor.”

Pirates and Privateers

“. . . The work is well-crafted, nicely structured, and highly readable. The sketches are based on a wealth of primary sources; however, the book avoids the all too frequent trap of alienating non-academics by over citing. Non-academic readers can grasp the key points without reading footnotes while historians and academics will find a substantial collection of relevant and useful primary sources. Audiences from naval history scholars to students to those just interested in the naval heritage of the United States, Canada, and Great Britain will find the book enjoyable and enlightening. The monograph is a worthy addition to the scholarship and understanding of a critical period in history as the modern era emerged with Britain's vault to world domination of the maritime commons, the establishment of a maritime empire and her domination of the world's trade in the post-Napoleonic era. That vault was powered, in great part, by the contributions of seamen from North America.” BOOK REVIEW – From Across the Sea: North Americans in Nelson's Navy | International Journal of Naval History (ijnhonline.org)

Review by Stanley D.M. Carpenter, Ph.D.

Professor Emeritus, U.S. Naval War College

Join Zoom Meeting

The Naval Order of the United States is inviting you to a scheduled Zoom History Presentation featuring John Rodgaard co-author of From Across the Sea: North Americans in Nelson's Navy

Join Zoom Meeting

<https://us02web.zoom.us/j/8344215425?pwd=NHY1UdhUM25CTTQwY1lGSmJK>

VTZsQTo9

Meeting ID: 834 421 5425

Passcode: 7041890

One tap mobile

+13126266799,,8344215425#,,,,,0#,,7041890# US (Chicago)

+16468769923,,8344215425#,,,,,0#,,7041890# US (New York)

Dial by your location

+1 312 626 6799 US (Chicago)

+1 646 876 9923 US (New York)

+1 301 715 8592 US (Germantown)

+1 669 900 6833 US (San Jose)

+1 253 215 8782 US (Tacoma)

+1 346 248 7799 US (Houston)

+1 408 638 0968 US (San Jose)

Meeting ID: 834 421 5425

Passcode: 7041890

Find your local number: <https://us02web.zoom.us/j/8344215425>