A Message from the Pastor

“O Lord, our God, how wonderful your name in all the earth!” (cf. Ps 8:2a)

Our Psalm today reflects a great approach toward how we should go about articulating the mystery of the Most Holy Trinity: Always start with a sense of wonder that echoes praise, thanksgiving from the depths of your heart. In other words, allow this mystery to awaken within you a hunger and longing for the divine. Rather than be intimidated by talking about the inner life of the Trinity, it's always better to attempt anyway, and in the process grow in gratitude that God can never fully be understood or contained by our limited senses. This is a good thing! As a result, our relationship with the Lord continually unfolds and deepens whenever we engage this 'longing' within us.

The Catechism reminds us, “The mystery of the Most Holy Trinity is the central mystery of the Christian faith and life, it is the mystery of God in himself” (CCC234). Trying to get to the heart of the Trinity, it becomes difficult to grasp at the same time both the vastness of God and also His profound intimacy/closeness with us. And this is what leads us to wonder and amazement at God. God becomes more and more knowable, but in a way where we cannot exhaust the depths of His newness. St. Augustine described the beauty of God as being both “ever-ancient” and “ever-new.” Consider again our reading from Proverbs, a wisdom book we don't often hear from. The more we soak in this infinite beauty of God, the more we realize there is no limit to being saturated with it. I think of this when I hear Jesus say in our Gospel today, “I have much more to tell you, but you cannot bear it now...the Spirit of truth will guide you to truth” (cf. John 16:12-13). With this assurance, Jesus promises that his Spirit will continually fill us and draw us into deeper knowledge Himself. Even in the moments we don't understand, the Spirit can lead us to a place of consolation.

It was in our Baptism that the Trinity first claimed us as beloved sons and daughters, and it was in that moment that the very Spirit of the divine life was poured into us for our transformation. St. Paul to the Galatians: “Since you are children of God, God has sent into your hearts the Spirit of his Son, the Spirit who cries out: Abba, Father” (Gal 4:6). It is the work of the Spirit to diffuse and communicate in the depths of our hearts the love of the Father and the knowledge of his Son. The Most Holy Trinity desires to be known by us and to lead us to share this communion of love. The question is, “but why?” Really, after searching the scriptures, after seeing life lived, in taking in the order of creation and the breadth of the cosmos...the only explanation for God's self-revelation, God's invitation to relationship with him, is that He is pure Love. The nature of God is his merciful love, and because of his goodness alone, he calls us to himself. Psalm 8, again: “When I behold your heavens, the work of your fingers, the moon and the stars which you set in place — What is man that you should be mindful of him, or the son of man that you should care for him?” O Lord, our God, how wonderful your name in all the earth.

This weekend we also pray for special blessings upon all Fathers & Godfathers, that they may be renewed by the love of God this day and that with the grace of God they may reflect the heart of God to us their children, and receive God anew as Father to each of them, too. There is a uniqueness about this call that is so important, and indeed lofty, and we know none can truly live this calling perfectly apart from grace. For these men, may God be their source of life and strength to provide for all that has been entrusted to them. And for our fathers who have gone home to the Lord, may they rest in peace, and those who are struggling with grief or suffering from wounds of the brokenness of home or hardship, may the grace of the Lord offer them His closeness and healing consolation.

The Most Holy Trinity

A Family Perspective

The words of Jesus in today's gospel, "I have many things to say to you, but you cannot hear them now," could have been said by any parent. It can be frustrating because our desire to guide is often misinterpreted or poorly received. We cannot program our children. We can only teach, lead and trust the Spirit of truth will guide them

Vocations

Paul writes to the Romans of the love of God, which is infinite, that has been poured out into our hearts. We are filled with this love and are called to share this same love with others. If God is calling you to share His goodness and love through the priesthood, diaconate, or religious life, reach out to the Vocation Office via email: vocations@syrdio.org and follow us on Instagram @vocationssyracuse.

Word of Life

"Through our prayers and through the intercession of St. Joseph, patron of fathers, may fathers come to know the irreplaceable role they hold in the lives of their children, and the responsibility they share in welcoming God's gift of new life!"

Bulletins

With postage rates rising again, we would like to cut back on our weekly mailing of bulletins. If you would like it to continue, please call the Parish Office and let us know otherwise you will only receive the monthly mailed bulletin. If you would like the bulletin emailed to you, please share your email address with us. Thank you to those that have responded thus far. We appreciate your feedback!

Our Mission Statement

The Feast of St. Peter and St. Paul is the weekend of June 28th & 29th. Please save the date and read the enclosed flyer in this week's bulletin.

Focus:

The Church invites us to explore humbly the mystery of the Most Holy Trinity and to grapple with the truths of this fundamental insight into the essence of God's being. The three Persons of the Holy Trinity-Father, Son, and Holy Spirit-are one, but are distinct from each other. Thus, we can say they are in relationship with one another-an eternal communion of love. Confronted with this mystery, let us contemplate with wonder and awe the beauty of God.
