A Message from the Pastor

We've made it through the beautiful Advent and Christmas seasons and are back in Ordinary Time. While we may be sad to see the season change, our readings today maintain a clear harmony that we shouldn't miss, connecting us to last Sunday's feast of the Baptism of the Lord. Recall that we heard Jesus insist that he be baptized when John initially tried to prevent him. In that moment of Baptism, we saw the mystery of the Trinity momentarily unveiled, God the Father solemnly declaring the beloved Son, and the Spirit descending like a dove—and while we know well Jesus' sinlessness, we are invited to recognize that Jesus' Baptism on one level sanctifies the waters of Baptism for us to follow after, but it also reveals a deeper love of God for us. Jesus' insistence on this moment expressed what he intends: he means to stand in solidarity with sinners. What "pleases" the Father is not only the Son's willingness to be with sinners, but more than that, to save them from the powers of sin and death.

In our Gospel today, this truth is ever more boldly on display: "John the Baptist saw Jesus coming toward him and said, "Behold, the Lamb of God, who takes away the sin of the world."" We hear this title and often take it for granted because we hear it proclaimed at every Mass and maybe because of that familiarity it doesn't strike us the way it would have struck John's disciples. Lamb of God would have immediately evoked many words of the prophets of old, and most certainly the celebration of the Passover: the blood of the lambs slain that marked the people as belonging to the Lord and the liberation from slavery in Egypt that came as a result. And so we see here in the beginning of John's Gospel unveiled before our eyes something of Jesus' identity and mission. Yes, Jesus' willingness to come among us in the flesh, but also his desire to offer his life as a ransom for the world. For us, what began with the Baptism recalled last Sunday, Jesus has boldly opened the way for us to belong to the divine life of the family of God, and now also to share his power and victory over sin and death.

Today let's call to mind with new attention and gratitude for the sacrificial love of the Lord for us when at the moment of the Mass Jesus is held up before us in the Eucharist and we hear boldly: "Behold the Lamb of God. Behold Him who takes away the sins of the world. Blessed are those called to the supper of the Lamb." Before our eyes we gaze upon the one who has loved us best, upon the one who seeks out the lost, who desires to transform us by his very life. When you and I were found victim to our weakness, and vulnerable for our powerlessness in the face of our mortality, Jesus chose not to abandon, but rather to offer himself to rescue us from the separation that sin has caused. And with this salvation we are given supreme hope and the joy of eternal life, our life with God has been restored. This is why we must continually respond to this unfathomable generosity of God with ever-ongoing conversion to turn our hearts away from sin that separates us from this very love and life of God.

Some beautiful wisdom for us from St. Peter Julian Eymard: "The Eucharist began at Bethlehem in Mary's arms. It was she who brought to humanity the Bread for which [the world] was famishing, and which alone can nourish it. She it was who took care of that Bread for us. It was she who nourished the Lamb whose life-giving Flesh we feed upon. Jesus is the Lamb of God, the Victim of love, who offers Himself on the altar for the salvation of the world."

Hope Appeal

We are at 86% of our goal for the annual Hope Appeal, $20,175.00. We are just $2,820.00 away and still have over 150 parishioners that haven't answered the call yet. It is very important for all of us to participate in some way. Remember that no gift is too large or small. For it is together we strengthen our church and serve others. Thank you!

Our Mission Statement

We, the members of Our Lady of Pompei / St. Peter, are called to acknowledge the Lordship of Jesus. As our parish affirms its heritage, we continue to reach out to those in need, bring the gospel to all who will receive it, and be formed in the image of Christ through worship and prayer. We value the talents of each of our members and feel it is the responsibility of all to contribute time, talent and tithe to our faith community.

Sacrificial Giving

Please contact Fr. Foley if you have any questions about our parish finances.
