GANDHIWADI SIDDHANT

VOLUME IV

PREFACE

The victorious western development, globalization, and modern urbanization have resulted in severe crime, violence, and inequity issues. These are the factors that affect the community growth as well as the nation's growth. It is essential to create awareness among the community's people to perceive what is right and thereby to follow the path of righteousness. We should promote the development of rural areas in tune with the Gandhian vision of self-sufficiency.

Centre for Fostering Social Responsibility (CFSR) at Gayatri Vidya Parishad College of Engineering (Autonomous) has taken an initiative to educate Gandhiji's thoughts and principles on educational and community-level. Hence, the event 'Gandhiwadi Siddhant' is implemented through six volumes. Each volume primarily consists of a quote from Mahatma Gandhi and a backdrop of the quote with reference to the book/newsletter/article along with the author. The writer who has presented the draft narrates his perspective on how it is implemented in life so that people can learn, relate and adapt. This will provoke introspective thoughts and instill the zeal to lead a better way of living.

MY VIEW:

In a world where words rule, arguments and lashing of words doesn't prove superiority. Taking the situation into consideration and valuing others' opinion and portraying your own vision is appreciable. Proneness to modify the truth, willingly or unwillingly is a natural weakness and silence is necessary in order to surmount it. An ounce of patience is considered superior to a tone of preaching. A person who's silent and patient has more room in his mind to think and express his thoughts in a better way. On the other hand, the person who's always speaking has a lack of thoughts in his mind as he is already preoccupied with all his preachings. A man who's silent takes his time to set his thoughts in place and will rarely give a chance of thoughtless words coming from him.

I've learnt that silence teaches a lot of things. It's a way where you can communicate with your own thoughts. Collecting your thoughts and setting them in place are the qualities of a wise speaker. Listening patiently and respecting others' opinions defines you as a person which indeed interprets your discipline and value of words. A patient person is always working on his thoughts and ideas silently in his mind. Having patience and listening to other people will give you an opportunity to know where they must be going wrong and learning from one's mistakes is a trait of the wise. Being patient and constantly working hard and giving your heart and soul in the right direction aids you towards your goal. Actions speak louder than words, hence prove your intentions by your actions and not by your words.
