Our Annual newsletter! October 2026! (I remembered!)

LOTS TO CATCH UP ON!

Hello again my lovely people!

Wow... what a year so far it has been, inside the salon and out...

First off for new time readers this is our newsletter which started off monthly, got forgotten about which then consequently turned it annually, written by yours truly.. (and not proof read either) 😊.

And for returning readers, this isn't a newsletter just so I can beg for your votes for the district window competition, we all know 2x Christmas window winner Jan at Stitch has a councillor in her pocket.

Anyway, onto the important updates from this ever changing year.

Our next newsletter! Sometime in 2027 (maybe)

A return to earth!

Our infamous Anita “the greeter and biscuit eater” made a spectacular decision to jump out of an aeroplane in July..

We think she is truly one in a million and brings us joy every day.

I managed to get the video evidence and screen shot the best picture of the descent in full force.

Anita had the best time and is already talking about doing another jump soon!

Everything that has happened in 2026!

Moving up the ranks

Having worked hard to achieve their targets, Lauren was promoted to Senior Stylist back in June and Melissa made it to Principle Director!

Both are no easy task and I'm really proud of the girls with how hard they worked to achieve their promotions.

Book Now

We developed a way quite a few years ago where we're able to shut the salon for two weeks over the festive period for some much needed R&R - without the need for anyone to use holiday, we work our hours leading up to Christmas to give you as much availability as possible (including Saturdays & Mondays!) Obviously we're busy but without losing our heads or giving up the comfort by having to squeeze everyone in. So don't be put off coming in before the big day! Our online availability shows upto 3 months in advance.

Blush summer BBQ bash

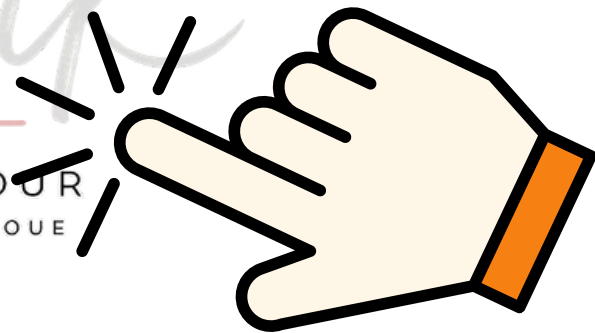

We had our first (hopefully annual) BBQ bash back in June, it was a hoot! Surprisingly there wasn't much photographic evidence of the event ... maybe the watermelon soaked rum/vodka appetisers had something to do with it 🙄. I cooked up a HUGE feast and all my Blushies and their family's came along to enjoy the day.

TATTOO PARLOUR
BY BLUSH HAIR BOUTIQUE

Yes... that's right.

We have become an official tattoo parlour, another passion of mine is being creative and art.

I am still very much in the learning faze, but with lots of practice (and willing volunteers) I am sure this is a venture which may actually be a good idea .. for once 😊.

Soooo much news! Oct 2026

The Academy Re-opens!

After working with us part time while attending college for the past year we have decided to hire Jamie as a full time apprentice and reopen the academy to give her the best start to her hairdressing career. As many of you know education is a huge passion of mine and after having a pause (due to a few setbacks 😞) I just know Jamie “has it” and I want to guide her with proper tuition.

The academy will be open every Wednesday 12-4pm and will have its own pricelist.

To book please call/email the salon and request for an academy booking.

Costs are on the up

You can't be upset with me ... just look at that cute little boy and his dog 🥰🥰

But yes, everything goes up and unfortunately somethings don't ever go down...

Traditionally hairdressers get paid naff and have to work their Tooshies off to earn commission.. seems fair? Well, when we've all been doing it a long time it gets quite wearing. So to keep up with not doing things by the book we've decided to alter this for our team.

Across the board we have made a small increase to all of our services, knowing that if you come in for multiple services (colour, cut etc) that it does accumulate but understanding that you're with your stylist for longer and they deserve everything they get because trust me, they work darn hard to get it!

Better paid staff, same great experience... it's a win win.

Loyalty points

Equivalent to a coffee shops stamp card we have a loyalty scheme of our own.

Download our app and make sure to subscribe to our reward system and you'll start to accumulate points which can be used to purchase retail products for you to take home.

Its a simple set up and once it's done you'll be able to see how much you accru.

Just a little something from us to say Thankyou and make maintaining your lushous locks more manageable between visits.

Appreciation

You know that special someone that just gets it? That's Emma (sometimes called Claire) .. When Emma's on holiday we wish she wasn't, if she's running late, we notice .. she's not the glue that holds us together, she's the bottle it comes in. Blush thrives because of this little diamond running around in the background.

Hair Extensions

Melissa and Jaime have both attended a hair extension course learning to apply Nanos, Micros and K-Tips. Mel has chosen to do this to learn the fundamentals of hair replacement systems and to start her trichology and hair loss training course from January.

So if you're wishing to have thicker, longer hair, worried about shedding or simply want to have a chat - book in for a consultation to speak to them.

I don't like this news Oct 2026

Biggest upset of '26

My Jojo has flown the nest 🥹🥹🥹🥹🥹🥹🥹🥹

Many moons ago, i overheard a young(er) client talking with George about how she was at night school in Crawley learning hairdressing.. from afar I was listening to their conversation and thought "she sounds like a really nice person.'

So, the next day I called this client and put forward a proposal.. to hire her as an assistant while I retrained her for a year, on the understanding she would continue working for us after. There was worry because of young kids and work commitments etc but we adjusted our expectations and agreed for Jo to join us part time.

7 years, many happy memories and shared laughs later, Jo is in a position where her family need to come first, understandably.

At first I felt proud of Jo, she's worked incredibly hard over the years, constantly improving, building a loyal clientele and has been a rock for us as a family, business and friend through often, turbulent times..

Then the next day I woke to feel a crushing loss.

Jo is still very much part of my heart and the very reason which drives Blush and all we strive for. A friendly welcome, a shoulder to lean on, a hug when needed and an all round good human.

Theres hope for a return, one day. For a replacement will never be possible.

It's not all rainbow and sunshine in business, we know that - But - we try our best to brighten everyone's day and I believe it is achieved by those who we surround ourselves with..

Our hiring policy has never been about the skills in which a potential candidate can bring but by the character in which they present themselves, not to me, but to the team as a whole..

Would you want to go for a night out with them? Be stuck on lunch for an hour alone with them? Call on them to help you out in your hour of need?

The whole team has a say in who works alongside them, so it may be a while before we see a new face at Blush.

Entered 2026 in style!

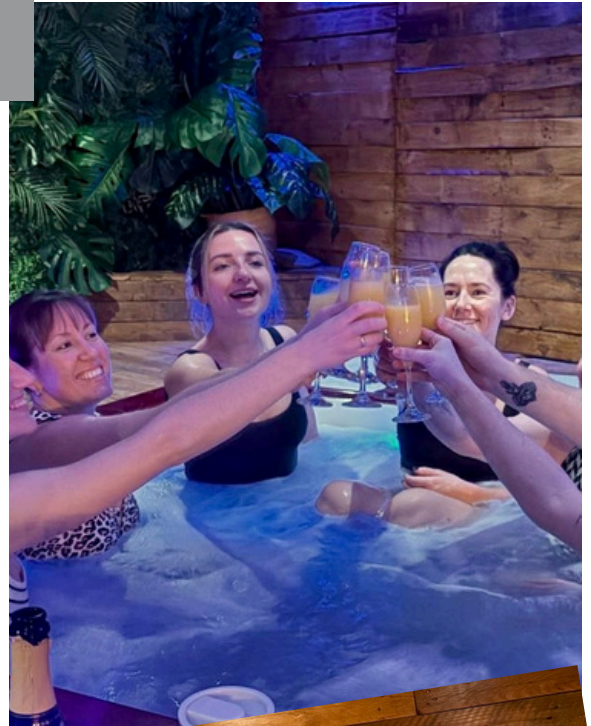

Christmas “do ‘26

Back in January we took the girls out for quite the experience.. charcuterie boards, relaxing massage treatments, our own private spa for the full afternoon annnnndddd unlimited prosecco!

Well, you can only imagine the chaos that ensued and the sights that were seen.... we still laugh about it now and it was the ultimate Christmas “do.

After many years of celebrations in January we feel that we've exhausted all options, so this year we will be heading out for a nice pub dinner and keeping it civil (definitely not boring.)

The plan is to change our christmas get together for a summer bash and oh boy do we have something up our sleeves for next year...

Next edition, no idea.

Over & Out

It's almost Halloween, which the kids love - as like most, have a serious sugar addiction! Our diary's are filling up with football matches, panto performances, weekend days out and a serious sense of dread in the lead up to silly season.

It's not all doom and gloom (although I'm not looking forward to the super dark, cold early mornings and having to work weekends again 😓), Although we love Christmas and the quality time off work spent with our families.

Now is the time to thank you all for your kind words we receive in your visits, lovely reviews left online and conversations you trust us with while in our chairs.

We genuinely enjoy being part of our community and seeing each and every one of you.

I hope you enjoy the rest of your year, get everything you ask for and have a wonderful time with everyone you love.

From my family to yours, Aden x
