EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

The second quarter of 2025 marks continued growth and spiritual impact across The Infnit™ Foundation. Eternity Chapel launched a new 11 a.m. Sunday service, resulting in multiple salvation responses and deeper community engagement across its VR and mobile gatherings. With three weekly services now in place, Eternity Chapel continues to redefine what it means to be the Church in a digital world.

Development of Infnit™ Dominion advanced significantly this quarter, incorporating hyper-realistic environments to elevate its immersive, Gospel-driven experience. Built in Unreal Engine 5.5, the virtual theme park is pushing the boundaries of visual and spiritual storytelling. Meanwhile, Book Three of The Infnit™ Universe is currently in development, continuing the foundation's mission to share the Gospel through bold, imaginative narrative.

FROM THE CEO

As we close out the second quarter of 2025, I remain deeply encouraged by the momentum building across all areas of The Infnit™ Foundation. This season has been marked by growth in depth—where bold ideas are not only envisioned but actively realized through the dedication of our team and the faithfulness of our supporters.

Infnit™ Dominion: Deeper Immersion, Greater Vision

Development on Infnit™ Dominion continues to progress steadily, as we now integrate hyper-realistic environments into a fully immersive VR world. These enhancements are part of our larger mission to offer a virtual theme park that is as spiritually engaging as it is visually breathtaking. This mission is pushing the boundaries of what Unreal Engine 5.5 can achieve, and the results are already astonishing.

Eternity Chapel: Growth in Spirit and Reach

Eternity Chapel has seen meaningful expansion this quarter with the launch of our new 11 a.m. Sunday service—creating space for more people to gather, worship, and grow in community. The first service brought multiple salvation responses and powerful moments of prayer and fellowship, reaffirming our belief that God is using this platform to reach hearts around the world. With weekly gatherings now available across three time slots, we continue to shape a truly global church without walls.

The Infnit™ Universe: Book Three in Development

Story development for Book Three of The Infnit™ Universe is underway, building upon the spiritual foundation and imaginative scope that define the series. Though still in the writing phase, a story is being prayerfully crafted that reflects both the truth of the Gospel and the wonder of eternity in ways that are compelling, bold, and unforgettable.

As we look ahead, we remain grounded in stewardship and fueled by faith. Thank you for walking this journey with us. Every prayer, every gift, and every word of encouragement helps build something that points to Christ—and that impact is eternal.

With gratitude and faith for what's ahead,

Daniel M. Ross
