
RONIN THEATRE CO. NEWSLETTER

JANUARY 12TH 2025

Hello Patrons

We hope the new year is treating you well.

Ronin Theatre has hit the ground running this year.

Coriolanus finished its run at the Irish Cultural Center and is touring up to Flagstaff. The review for the show was great and we hope to see some of you there if you missed it. Flagstaff Shakespeare Festival is hosting us at their new space The Beaver Street Theatre which they are currently remodeling.

"Ronin Theatre Company's production of William Shakespeare's Coriolanus offers a compelling exploration of power, loyalty and betrayal, driven by a talented cast and focused direction. The intense drama is vividly brought to life by director Keath Hall as the title character and a group of actors who bring raw emotion to their roles, creating an accessible and impactful production..." Our first show of the new season Babalon opens at the Irish Cultural Center January 30th. After that weekend we tour to Stageleft Productions new stage in Glendale (5930 West Greenway Road Suite 1A, Glendale AZ 85306). This is a co-production with Space 55 Theatre. So seeing this show would help support 3-4 great local companies at once.

In the 1940's, Jack Parsons worked in his lab by day to build rockets; by night, the young scientist would host occult parties in his Pasadena home. Both a pioneering rocket scientist and disciple of Aleister Crowley, Parsons attracted strange souls to him like moths to a flame – people like the mysterious artist Marjorie Cameron and the notorious L. Ron Hubbard. Together these three would work mystic rituals in the desert to invoke the goddess Babalon and usher in a new era. They would make history together... and tragedy.
