

Modern British Party

Welcome. The time has come for change. Reflecting on the state of the country now compared with the past, sure then we still had Labour, Liberal Democrat, and Conservative politicians ripping us off with their extortionate expenses claims, and some of them still do, but we weren't fundamentally in such a dire place.

The following is a taste of the problems we face after decades of Labour, Liberal and Conservative rule and a few of the steps we will start to take to begin to build a better Britain.

Where are we now after a further 20 years plus of Labour, Liberal and Conservative rule? The situation at home is a constant hangover of austerity, with public sector organisations continually stating they are under-resourced, whether it's the NHS, Education, or the Armed Forces. Stories continually surfacing of the horrific abuse of our children, the ones we should be protecting the most, and home-grown terrorists walking our streets. Health-wise we are ridiculously obese as a nation. The National debt is so large it almost seems meaningless. Politicians are so incompetent, for the most part, they can't balance the books and just keep adding to the debt. All of this means if you are in your teens, 20s, 30s or even 40s you are going to suffer while the current Labour, Liberal and Conservative politicians ride off into the sunset with their huge pensions and unjust payoffs when they are voted out. Pensions that you, very kindly, pay for, will become even tougher for any of us to see, not to mention due to the ridiculous policies many of us will only ever be able to rent rather than own our own homes.

Why are we in this mess? It is due to decades of mismanagement by Labour, Liberal and Conservative politicians. NB The Liberals are only culpable for 5 years of this.

All we can say is it is time for change.

It is time for fairness and equality – those who work hard will be rewarded. Our present politicians just pay lip service to these concepts – we will make the changes.

Every time an election comes around, we hear plenty of sound bites and we are lured into thinking, "Yes, just maybe this time things will improve!" and, every time, the Labour, Liberal and Conservative politicians let us down– so we repeat: it is time for change.

Fairness and Equality

We believe in fairness and equality in working conditions - pay, pensions, health and education for everyone across the board – not for the few, not for the many, but for ALL.

Children, women and men will all be treated equally. There will be no exceptions. There is no place for intolerance – your intolerance will not be tolerated. We expect all people resident in this great country to adopt the British values of equality for all, freedom of speech, to be pioneers of freedom and equality as we have strived to be in the past. Plenty of other nations still adopt dictatorial or patriarchy practices, but we assume that all people who live here or apply to live here wish to live as we do. Do you think our brave soldiers of the two world wars fought for a Great Britain where not all individuals are treated equally? We don't think so.

We will face opposition from self-interest groups but we will resist these challenges where it is in the greater public benefit. We need to get back to being a great nation, looking out for our neighbours, caring for those in need, and putting other people before ourselves when we have been more fortunate than them. Many powerful politicians have adopted a left-wing greed approach of 'me, me, me'. This has to change.

Some reasons why others are not fit to govern

We have always fought for freedom, but now we have home-grown terrorists threatening our own people as a result of warmongering Labour and Conservative policies.

The situation overseas in war-torn countries is desperately harrowing. Terrorist organisations are now an aggressive enemy. Should Labour have invaded Iraq – we hate warmongering – we don't think so. Therefore, we will invite The Hague, independent of any British influence, and give them open access to establish whether Labour was responsible in any way for presenting a picture that made others think war was necessary, i.e. were our allies or ourselves in immediate and present danger? If not, and this is proved to be the case, any Labour politician involved will then be brought to justice for inciting a war that should not have happened. A question for the Labour party politicians – have you found any Weapons of Mass Destruction yet? Sadly, for young Labour supporters, we have heard they think this is fake news being the only way they can believe it. It was reported by Reuters that approximately 1,000,000 have died as a consequence of the Iraq war (ironically, a similar number of deaths are commemorated at 11 am on 11th November thinking of the brave soldiers who lost their lives during World War I) Do you think these Labour politicians deserve to sleep easy at night in their cosy safe homes whilst other families still grieve for their lost relatives?

Should the Conservatives have given the go-ahead to invade Libya? We hate warmongering – we don't think so. The same approach will apply to them, the Conservatives, or, as we call them, the anti-UK party with their efforts to divide the country gaining momentum. Their support of a Scottish referendum playing into the hands of the SNP rather than ensuring the Scottish seeing themselves as an unmissable part of the UK. This policy has now left many Scottish feeling divided and abandoned instead, ridiculous, we say!

The fallout from the arrogant, warmongering actions of the Conservatives and Labour is heart-wrenching. We now have some of the world's worst terrorist groups ever in living memory with strongholds in, you guessed it, Iraq and Libya to name just two, ever-evolving and forever a threat.

Imagine for a moment the empty chairs around the dining tables of the families of the 1,000,000 who died and what they must be going through every day. Do you think red is an apt colour for the Labour party?

We no longer seem to strive to be the peacemakers – political arrogance by Conservative and Labour politicians has taken over. If you believe in peace, you certainly won't want to vote for these two parties. Their arrogance in thinking that they understand the Middle East and they can just go in, cause a catastrophic mess, and walk out again patting themselves on the back thinking there wouldn't be any repercussions were astounding.

Our values

Do you feel British? Under the Modern British Party, our values are freedom, justice, and generosity. We are free to walk down the street without feeling threatened for the way we look, the way we act, or the things we say. Justice for those that have suffered – victims should be put first not perpetrators. Meaningful, deserved full punishment – not a weak approach as we have had for decades. Under Conservative, Liberal and Labour governments we see the same crimes happening over and over again, generally with little fear of being caught; murder, rape, sexual assault, knife crime to name a few – year after year we continually these crimes increasing. Obviously, the Liberal Democrats, Conservatives and Labour seem to think these crimes are at an acceptable level not to give the necessary resources to make these rare rather than frequent issues. They will continue to pay lip service to these issues but most likely will never achieve any substantial reductions if they adopt the same old policies. Rest assured a Modern British Party Government will substantially improve the safety of British Citizens. We want Britain to be the safest country in the world. It will take time to undo the damage caused by the softy, softy policies of the Conservatives, Liberal Democrats and Labour. If you want to walk down the street safely late at night, not walk home from a night out in London and get sexually assaulted three times within an hour as happens now under the watch of the Labour London Mayor, or let your children play in the street knowing that they will be safe, it's time to change who you vote for.

Modernising Great Britain

Drugs – a great scourge on our society

Do you want to walk past a group of teenagers without smelling drugs? Then vote for us because this is only going to get worse under Labour, Liberal Democrats and the Conservatives. According to the NHS, deaths relating to drug misuse have risen by 38% in 10 years from 2007.

Drugs are riddled throughout society – do the current politicians, from all sides, really care? If so, why does the situation continue to get worse?

Great Britain

We will always aim to adopt a position of generosity to help those less fortunate than ourselves.

Great Britain should be a leading light in the world with a long-term strategy to help the people of Great Britain achieve their goals and for the children of Great Britain to grow up in a safe and friendly society. This multi-culturally diverse society of ours should greet newcomers, and each other, with warmth and respect based on our principles of living without prejudice or discrimination. The national debt ball and chain should be addressed rather than left for future generations to look back on with disbelief at the greed of the Labour, Liberal and Conservative politicians of the past who tried to win a few short-term votes by piling on the national debt at the expense of future generations. Our education system should be free from prejudice and discrimination and provide cutting-edge teaching that will give the people of Great Britain an advantage in the commercial world. Last but not least, British society should be fair. For the Modern Britain of today, we shall once again strive to put the “Great” back into Great Britain.

Brexit was a farce, in our opinion. It seemed that the vast majority of the public did not know which of the conflicting statements made by Labour, Liberal or Conservative politicians they could trust and rely on. The vote ended up being an anti-politician vote, in our opinion, of people saying, “We are fed up with the way these people are running things, potentially introducing decades of misery for millions of families.” Others were voting against the mismanagement of the European project (look at how Greece has ended up – why didn't the politicians do something to stop the decline rather than compounding the problem?) Since 1997, immigration has grown by absurd amounts (with some predictable harrowing consequences for many of our women and children) meanwhile putting unbelievable stress on the NHS, the police forces and the education departments. We already had increasing pressures with such an ageing population, so why would you bring in millions of low income and/or unskilled workers putting huge pressure on the benefits systems? The National Debt under Labour, Liberal and Conservative governments has risen by eye-watering amounts. If we printed the figure today, by the time you have read this it would have already increased beyond most people's comprehension, and so has the interest we have been paying that could have been spent on the NHS, schools and national security, to mention just a few.

The increase in borrowing would be fine if it had been invested in the country, but that is not what happened. Let's have a look at welfare and benefits - spending has risen by a staggering amount but not to all British Citizens. When we were growing up when workplaces crumbled and jobs were lost the issues were relocating to find a new job. Now the situation seems to be to just sit back and enjoy Benefits Britain. Low-paid jobs come along and they are filled and the welfare bill is cut, but it doesn't seem that way. Immigration rose by millions under Labour and the Conservatives, so rather than addressing the issues they compound the problem, encouraging millions of unskilled migrants to live here, paying them huge welfare bills while the jobs are filling low skilled jobs. This puts huge additional pressure on the NHS and housing availability. We promise to not carry on with these ludicrous policies. We will instead reverse these failed socialist policies that has been dragging us down for years – we will introduce an old-fashioned capitalist concept of working to pay for a living – not a gravy train of benefits where those paying tax are in some cases funding holidays and buying houses for individuals through excessive benefits to pay for their mortgages and other luxuries like comfortable cars. Our fundamental principle is that immigrants will not receive a gravy train of benefits as they do under Labour and Conservative governments. Immigrants will have to stand on their own two feet and pay for their own housing. Our position, unlike that of Labour, Conservatives and Liberals is that immigrants should not be a burden on our economy. The one exception to this policy will be short-term refugees.

Brexit

You might ask, where do we stand on Brexit? A recession is looming and it will be significant if no deal is reached. However, a satisfactory deal cannot be reached as it is not in the interests of Europe to let us ride off happily into the sunset. Our solution – we will tell voters that we are going to deal with all of their issues that caused them to adopt an anti-politician vote. We will seek alliances to reform Europe and/or the Western world. We aim to do this as a member of the EU, but if we are out when we come to power we will immediately strive to achieve a new consensus to again make us a part of a large economic market. We will support Europe as we need access to a large market to maintain our short and medium-term prosperity. Those supporting Leave were far smarter than the Remainers - blaming Europe for our problems “take back control”. NO! You, the incumbent Labour, Conservative and Liberal politicians, have all caused the problems, and this is why many of us loathe and distrust politicians – as we say, it’s time for change! Our approach is that Europe needs a reform which we will work on and seek new European and worldwide alliances.

A recession will shortly be upon us. The vast majority of people in the country will be worse off if we leave the EU for a long time. Think carefully!

Post-Brexit we will host a UK Trade Fair and Great Expedition, the likes of which has not been seen since 1851.

Great Britain Today

Too many of us are caught in finance plans to run our cars due to paying way too much tax so we can’t afford to pay for a car outright.

The dreadful Brexit debate caused a significant number of people to feel that immigration has caused the biggest problems in our society. To be fair, introducing millions of immigrants has caused substantial problems, as would have been predicted, but we had our own problems anyway. Now we just have other cultural problems as well, courtesy of Labour, Liberal and Conservative politicians. It is true to say that introducing millions of migrants has substantially increased the demand on the NHS and pushed up house prices (due to demand) so in some parts of the country, we have little option but to rent. If these individuals were paying the same level of tax as the rest of us, there would be more than enough money for the NHS. Our concerns are down to the economic mismanagement by Labour and Conservative parties over the decades, principally since 1997. Horrific levels of debts, ludicrous levels of benefits, as well as the millions of unskilled immigrants on the gravy train of benefits (if there was money there, why not give a house to our homeless rather than to an immigrant who didn’t need to come here?) Our immigration policy - we will accept highly skilled individuals paying tax that contribute towards a society that will be for the good of us all – these individuals should not be capped in their numbers. Others can come, specifically if needed, by trade body representation on a short-term basis only. Now we have a system where people receive so much in benefits that they don’t feel the need to work to improve their own situation which keeps them relying on the state. Even the Chinese have moved away from socialism to a managed capitalist style structure – it’s obvious why. Since 1997, GDP in China has risen by 1055% compared with 104% of the UK – mismanagement or incompetence by the UK Governments – what do you think?

Modernising Great Britain

Rest assured, the rich will pay their way. Individual success should be celebrated, not least for the job creation ability that wealth creates. State benefits will only be paid to those on low incomes or with low-value capital assets, not to wealthy individuals as so happens under Labour, Liberal and Conservative governments.

For those in need, we will always be there – you will never be abandoned. Our homeless will find a roof for the night rather than invite more immigrants and give them housing. Our pledge to our British homeless is that you will have a permanent roof over your head within 6 months of us coming into power.

For those who ride the benefits gravy train – it will be back to work or back to education if you want to increase your income.

We guarantee there will always be food and shelter available. There will be no need for anyone to sleep on the streets in our towns and cities. If they are there, they will be there by choice not because of a lack of facilities. Why would you introduce millions of immigrants and give them houses yet leave some of your own citizens to sleep rough on the streets? We believe this is a major failing of our recent governments.

Do not for one second take this as an attack on immigrants. Most immigrants are lovely people. Sure, there are the rotten ones but we have our own fair share of those. Our attack is on the incompetent policies that have led to millions coming here. We blame the politicians, not the people.

We all know Labour supporters have felt abandoned over the years by the party they once revered, whether it be shipbuilding or the energy sector. We believe in the industrial capability of our country with the aim to put us back at the top of the industrial league. The Labour Party made plenty of noise when industry declined under the Conservatives but did little about it when they were in power – it's no wonder that so many Labour supporters feel let down by their government! Not to mention when Labour brought in millions of unskilled immigrants taking traditional Labour heartland jobs.

NHS & Health– it is time for change here too!

No more health tourists will be added to the burden placed on the NHS. Before this latest mass immigration policy by Labour, did you manage to get a doctor's appointment on the same day or did you have to wait three weeks or so as you do now? Investment has risen so why the increasing queues? Because with mass immigration and an ageing population there is more demand.

In the short-term, we will aim to boost front-line support.

We want to hear from all levels of the profession about how they feel improvements can be made whether it be in clinical terms or the management and efficiency areas. A survey will be carried out to canvas all NHS employees in a comprehensive study. Is the pressure on the NHS really just caused by introducing millions of migrants, the existing ageing population and unaffordable pensions, or is there something else to it?

If you are one of the many people who are overweight or clinically obese, please remember in most cases, it is not your fault. It is the fault of previous Conservative and Labour governments failing to act.

"Theresa May's strategy on childhood obesity is a "stinking herring" that lets down the nation's kids" – Jamie Oliver It's a terrible job the Conservative Government has done there. They have completely let down every child in Britain.

The Economy

We pay approximately £40bn pounds a year in interest alone. Imagine what we could have done with that money. By the way, where is the money going to come from to pay off the EU? You guessed it – out of your pocket!

Modernising Great Britain

Currently, we have no Government prepared to face up to the problems that they have created. “We are better off than earlier generations” we often hear politicians say, and “you have never had it so good”. The reason why is because they have borrowed more to give you more so you will vote for them. Is greed really that good? Would you rather live comfortably with lower debt and substantially less financial stress or do you want to carry on borrowing and spending until you go bust? Think of it in personal terms, what if you could just keep adding to your credit card or mortgage indefinitely – what would happen in the end? Well, that is the state of our country at the moment. The question is just how far are we from not being able to pay back those debts? If you thought you had austerity over the last few years, this will be incomparable with real austerity, just ask the Greeks. It is time to decide: borrow, tax and spend as some Governments always do time after time or face the problem to restore our once leading nation back to its creative, embracing accomplished self. The only way to do that is to vote for the Modern British Party – modernising Great Britain.

We will put long-term economic prosperity as one of our main goals, so the next generation won't feel like they are carrying the ball and chain that they have currently been left with.

We will restore the High Street back to where it should be. No thanks, to the Conservatives who have been watching while the decline unfolded.

Economic support will be a part of every decision made – another fine example of gross incompetence by the Labour, Liberal and Conservatives who leave the planet and its natural equilibrium at great risk.

Tax and National Insurance

We have immediate plans for improvements to the tax system to encourage business and bring fairness to all.

Labour talk about tax avoidance as they always do with their sound bites, but, as we know, when they come into government they don't do anything meaningful, otherwise, it wouldn't still be a problem! We will look at the Labour and Conservatives' donors and see if they have benefitted from donations from those that have benefited from their lax tax policies. Watch this space!

Business and Companies – these will come first in our strategic thinking. With an energised successful business community, the country will grow and provide us with the tax that we need to once again become a leading country rather than to continually slide down the world rankings as we did under Labour, Liberals, and the Conservatives. Companies will only pay tax when they distribute their surplus income, leaving them more to invest and create jobs and help our great country grow.

Transport

We have seen a substantial increase in the users of transport for business and leisure but in comparison very little investment in new infrastructure. Why don't they spend less time putting speeding cameras up to collect tax and instead just build more roads?

As an island we need transport links more than most to enable easy access for our businesses; many already world-leading. Access for these businesses to export and access for overseas visitors is also essential. We need to create a new airport, not out of Heathrow but to serve both the South East and the industrial heartland to ensure continuing prosperity for all parts of the country. Rest assured we are not another party that abandons the North in favour of the South. We will work with ambitious well-placed areas that have an appetite for growth and change e.g. Milton Keynes with monorail style links above the M1 into London, the monorail style capability being expanded through major London routes suffering from congestion.

Prejudice

The UK has always been leaders in the war against prejudice. We have always shown respect and welcomed those from different backgrounds and different beliefs to our own. This will continue as long as these green and pleasant lands which we hold so dear and prize so much continue to run through our veins.

Prejudice against individuals of different faiths, colour, against women, children or those of a different sexual orientation is not acceptable in Modern Britain. Women have fought too long and too hard for the same rights and freedoms as men in our society and these rights and freedoms extend to women of different faiths who choose to come to this country. Where we feel the rights of these women is diminished, in our society we ask those concerned to respect the freedom of speech and personal liberties we adopt and wish all persons to be respected equally. A great statesman once said, "We must never adjust ourselves to racial segregation". There will never be segregation in our society based on race, gender or ethnicity as long as we are at the helm of government – this applies to all including golf clubs, members' clubs, schools and religious venues. Any classification by colour of any event, literature etc will be outlawed – Our opinion, colour is irrelevant and is divisive if referred to.

A woman shuffling behind a man is not acceptable in our society. The Education system has failed if children still feel they must adopt a patriarchal doctrine. Labour, the Conservatives and Liberals all think this is okay as it is up to individuals how they live their lives and how they bring up their children. We agree for adults, but we will make it clear that we will protect children until the age of 17 from these practices until they can decide for themselves. British children were once seen and not heard. Under Labour, the Liberal Democrats and Conservative politicians they seem to think it is acceptable for British children to be heard but not seen! We do not agree with the sexualisation of British children.

It is time for us all to decide who we are and the way we want our country to be. Otherwise, ask yourself, what is the price you are prepared to pay in terms of our values?

Crime & Prison

The rights of victims will be at the forefront of policy. Criminals' rights and benefits will take second place. Prisoners' Human Rights, by virtue of breaking society's laws, will not be allowed to extend to a situation where there could be a deemed benefit to the criminal.

Prison sentences will be changed to more closely match the suffering of their victims.

Murder, child abuse, sexual grooming, rape and human trafficking will attract far more attention than ever before - hopefully, we will eradicate these problems. The current softly-softly approach is not working, more criminals of this nature are forever coming out of the woodwork – the present system is not a deterrent. We are the only party that will make a substantial difference in tidying up our streets and making the UK a better place to live.

Physical attacks on our great service personnel, police, and paramedics will result in a minimum sentence of 1 year. Verbal attacks a minimum of 1 week with financial penalties.

UN Reform

The United Nations requires reform. Our aims:

A UN peacekeeping force needs to obtain support to be able to take immediate action against allegations of Genocide, Torture and other Human Rights abuses. Those countries that do not sign up to allowing the UN to investigate will be cut off from the International Community and it will be the duty of the UN to try and assist those suffering by whatever means necessary who remain in their country.

The UN must publish a list of official terror organisations. A UN military peacekeeping force will seek to eradicate these terror organisations and will have unfettered access to all countries signing up. All countries will be expected to contribute in terms of military personnel and money. It will not be left to the West to “do the right thing”. The US should not be the guardians of peace thus promoting East vs. West in the eyes of those in the East. Those that do not offer support will not be offered protection when their country is hit by terror organisations – these countries will also be blacklisted.

Closer to home – close your eyes if you are on the left

We will be modernising the so-called “untouchables”.

The Fire Brigade– why abandon those in Grenfell Tower for hours leaving some to certain death telling them to stay put until 02:47 when it was too late? Did the American Fire Fighters do that during 9/11 or did they keep going in even though they knew the outcome was not going to be good for many of them – but they had a job to do – heroes without question.

A substantial percentage of Grenfell Tower residents were not of English origin, far closer to the London current ethnicity mix, so shouldn't the Fire Brigade be representative of the local community? Is this a case of institutional problems? We will investigate these claims.

They stayed away from the Manchester bombing while members of the public rushed to help.

The trouble seems to be Fire Brigade Management not learning lessons from previous incidents and putting themselves first rather than the public.

There will be a change of culture under our Government and we will recruit our future fire-fighters so that every man, woman and child in this country can expect the emergency services to be the first on the scene – not leave when the going gets tough.

Other institutions letting hard-earned tax payer's money slip through their fingers due for reform are TFL and the BBC.

Corruption

A central UN created organisation will seek information about corruption within countries. If the individual country does not take action the UN will obtain a law for permission to prosecute those concerned. Failure to sign up will result in international isolation.

Privacy

We will initiate a review of the state of the Electronic and Tangible Press to ensure they uphold an individual's right to privacy.

Poverty

So far, politicians have spoken words but have not delivered on their promises. Individual countries have failed to act sufficiently. We will act for the benefit of not just Great Britain.

Benefits Britain

Modernising Great Britain

This will stop under our Government. Carry on voting for Labour, Liberal and the Conservatives who put in place ridiculous benefits if you think these are a good idea.

Our hard-earned tax money is being absurdly used. Here is an example of the gross mismanagement of the economy:

A family of ten have turned down a five-bedroom council house, claiming they should be offered something bigger. According to The Sun, the family has received £108,000 worth of help in the last 12 months - in the form of hotel stays, housing and child benefit, child tax credits and fees for the father's course.

We must put the majority of hard-working decent people first and not be a soft touch for people who abuse the system because we are becoming known as "Benefits Britain".

Other

Gambling – The only real winners are companies profiting at the expense of vulnerable individuals. There will be no gambling advertising of any kind under a Modern British Party government. If people want to gamble that is their choice and they can find out how, but it will not be promoted at people when they may be susceptible to promotional material. Why would you do that to your own people – just how incompetent are our politicians? Another reason for change!

Politics – Politics will be changing when we are voted in. No more greed, whether it is trying to get money for personal introductions, fiddling expenses, flipping houses or huge pensions and termination payments the rest of us can only dream of. All decisions will be made by a committee – no one individual will ever make an important decision on their own.

Some people we talk to distrust politicians. The present and past clearly shows some are greedy, lacking honesty and integrity and continue to make poor judgements to the detriment of us all. We will put these issues behind us once and for all.

Politics for all – Now, we would like to think we have all the answers but we don't. Our opinion is that politicians should be representing the country at any point in time – as such, we will be holding regular votes on important topics as they evolve throughout the course of parliament for example:

A – Should we be sending money abroad as part of the overseas aid budget to countries involved in space activities?

B – Should politicians get better termination payments than most ordinary citizens?

C – Should immigrants be sent back to their country of origin after serving time for an offence such as rape / sexual assault or terrorism?

D – Should Unions be allowed to disrupt society with plans that affect people going about their day to day lives.

E – Should Politicians who flipped their houses to take advantage of the system be sacked from Parliament?

etc

Political correctness - this will go out of the window. All this does is brush problems under the carpet.

Why are inadequate people trying to get themselves higher up the ladder than they deserve? There should not be more deliberate diversity. Did Margaret Thatcher get to the top because she needed a helping hand as she was a woman? No. She was the best person for the job at the time. Did Sir Trevor McDonald get to the top because we needed more people of colour on TV? No. He was the most talented broadcaster at the time. Did Srinivasa Ramanujan get into Cambridge University because they needed more people from ethnic backgrounds? No. He got in because he was simply brilliant at Maths. How must it feel today for all those given roles driven by a perceived need for diversity knowing their colleagues are questioning whether they are really up to the job? Get there on your own merits or sit back with the rest of us and admire those that achieve. A great statesman once said he has a dream that people will not be judged by the colour of their skin. We agree with him. The best person for the position should always get it, irrespective of race, gender, or ethnicity. We will apologise in advance to our brilliant Silver Medalist 4x100m womens athletic relay team, the political correctness army will be coming for you sooner or later; one white, one black, one brown and no doubt one green if they can! We are proud of you for being talented enough to represent Great Britain as you are, thank you and good luck!

Conclusion

If you think what we have said during the course of this speech is just par for the course and something we must accept from our incompetent politicians; women, if you think 85,000 rapes a year, approx 11 every hour is acceptable – carry on voting as you have before. Our guess is many of you will continue to vote Labour and Conservative – fine words but in the end, it will mean ongoing misery for many due to incompetence and mismanagement. If you carry on voting as you have before to those who pay lip service to the idea of reducing rape and sexual assault charges, we hope you never regret your decision. 425,000 women will regret their decision over the life of the next parliament if we are not elected during the next general election based on past figures.

16,500 children are in danger of sexual exploitation –only we can do something about this statistic, please vote for us and save a child from a living hell.

We are going to ask Sara Rowbotham to lead the enquiry into Child Exploitation with any support she needs, to uncover the truth as to why those in positions of authority chose to ignore the problems. Action will be taken against anyone negligent in carrying out their role. It will be a criminal offence to turn a blind eye and let a child suffer.

Modernising Great Britain

The Labour Rotherham Council has been in the press again recently – there is something truly sick in their ranks – victims come first if you support us. Plus, we will also ensure those involved in these decisions are replaced.

Our primary goals:

Eradicate Child Trafficking and sexual abuse

Eradicate Rape

Restore Economic Competence and a strong and fair future for all

Immigrants will not be allowed to just come and have a lifetime of benefits. Those that have will find their stays being reduced. You cannot come to the UK and expect to be a burden on the economy or to the people of a Modern Great Britain

To be safe, be happy, live long and prosper – vote for us!

Don't forget, we are only scratching the surface with these points. Next, we will modernise Education, Student Loan debacle, Transport, Unions.....

For the sake of the children and if you want to make Great Britain and the world a better place, then vote for us. We are looking around us at a Britain created by Labour, the Liberal Democrats and the Conservatives and don't always like what we see – so as we have said many times above, it is time for change!

Please act today, and join us! The time is now for all of us to make a positive change. This is a battle we must win for our children and our future generations. We are an angry country, fed up with these incompetent politicians on all sides.

Our Party is all about creating a country with opportunities for individuals to lead their life exactly as they dreamed it would be; safe, happy, healthy and prosperous. All the other parties have failed – let's modernise Great Britain and fulfil our dreams!

When all is said and done we are fundamentally a party that will put business first. Why? With the strongest business sector on the world it will give us the tax resources to create the best education and health systems, hands down!

A summary to take with you to the Polling Station

Our Policy / Approach Just compare this with others' past record	Modern British Party	Comment
Rapes committed per year (Others record see Rape Crisis Charity) Goal – Be safe	0 (second year onwards)	If you are a woman, either vote for us or just hope you or your family are lucky
Number of Islamic Terrorists who are a threat to you walking the streets Goal – Be safe	0 (second year onwards)	If you don't vote for us, the chances of the next attack happening are substantially higher
No prejudice. Equality and freedom for all – this is not optional. No more pathetically small prison sentences. Goal – Be happy	No more strikes that affect the public. New Bank Holiday – named Turing's Day	No doubt we will hear the usual lip service pre-election – then just carry on as usual.
Goal – Live long	Modernise the NHS and reduce immigrant demand on its services	No doubt we will hear the usual lip service paid – then just carry on as usual from the others
Economic change  Goal -Prosper	Reward hard-working families. Increase adult education opportunities. Spread the taxation burden more fairly.	It is time for hard-working families and individuals to be rewarded rather than being the butt of incompetent policies.

Questions to answer in your own mind....

Do you feel very safe walking the streets at night on your own?

Do you feel we should look after others before ourselves?

Do you feel that the Politicians in power, over the last 20 years, or so have done a great job?

Do you feel those MP's that took advantage of the system for their own greed should keep the money?

Do you feel MP's deserve a far superior termination package when they get voted out?

Do you feel Politicians protect our country's children to the level they deserve to be protected?

Do you feel happy knowing there are would-be terrorists walking the streets?

Do you feel the politicians have always used your hard-earned tax pounds wisely?

Should Universities need a ranking based on safety?

If you have answered yes to these – carry on voting as you are. If, on the other hand, you said no to most if not all of these – then its time for change!
