2023 Code Change Analysis
Saturday, July 13, 2024 * 7:00 AM to 4:00 pm
RIT Inn & Conference Center
5257 West Henrietta Road, Henrietta, NY 14467

Presented by Michal Hofkin and Jack Lyons

Michal Hofkin joined UL as a Lead Regulatory Engineer in the Codes and Regulatory Services Department in May of 2021. He provides code expertise and standards-related guidance to regulatory authorities, manufacturers, designers, and contractors. Before joining UL, Michal enjoyed a twenty-three year career as an electrical inspector in the Philadelphia metropolitan area. He is a certified electrical inspector and plans examiner. Michal has been an instructor of electrical code and trade courses for over thirty-five years and is a former master electrician in four states.

Jack Lyons is the Northeast field representative for the National Electrical Manufacturers Association (NEMA). Mr. Lyons monitors State code adoption and other regulatory issues as they relate to the scope of products within NEMA. He also assists AHJ's and product end users with applications and code requirements in eleven Northeast states and the District of Columbia. Mr. Lyons holds a BS degree in Occupational Education, AS degree in engineering science and is a Master Electrician in Massachusetts for over 40 years.
