

Command Safety Corps, Inc. addresses the needs of companies, developers, general contractors and subcontractors as it relates to safety at the workplace. In addition to providing training for OSHA compliance, Command Safety Corps, Inc. can provide other consulting services including but not limited to creation of safety manuals and procedures, onsite safety inspections with written recommendations, general consulting services on safety rules regulations and implementation.

All our courses are given by experienced industry instructors, safety experts, and construction professionals, who have overseen numerous construction projects throughout the United States. With our Safety program you will learn to initiate and maintain an OSHA compliant & professional safety program, while also earning several hazard awareness cards, first-aid certification, and a course completion certificate.

All our programs can be tailored and customized to address your specific needs and satisfy the OSHA requirements.
