

Ms. Harper has over 35 years of experience and is one of the few experts who are court-qualified across multiple matters. She is a former chief marketing officer for Fortune 500 companies, a general manager for a leading global communications agency, a serial entrepreneur, and an adjunct marketing professor.

Hundreds of law firms have engaged Ms. Harper for cases concerning intellectual property infringement, misleading advertising, licensing, breach of contract and performance, unfair competition, trade practices, consumer privacy, and standard practices. She has also served as a designated expert in more than 10 class action lawsuits. As a leading survey expert, Ms. Harper has conducted or rebutted over 300 Lanham Act related surveys. She has also provided more than 75 marketing opinions.

Ms. Harper has testified more than 150 times in virtually every Federal Circuit Court, State Courts, the USPTO, the TTAB, and in arbitrations through both AAA and JAMS.
