From Fr. Mike's Desk

What is with the Apostles? We have seen them in action during the past few weeks in Mark's Gospel. Several times we have seen them ask questions or argue among themselves as to who is the greater, and of course, Jesus had to set them straight. A few weeks ago, Jesus used the example of a little child to show them how they are to be toward one another and to realize that no one is greater than anyone else in the eyes of God. Likewise, Jesus instructs them that they should work at being innocent and open as a little child, who seeks no position in this world and accepts all that is given to him or her. In today's Gospel, we are told that James and John stood before Jesus and asked to sit on His right and left at the places of honor and authority. Jesus of course tells them that they do not know what they are asking, and then He asks them if they are willing to share with Jesus the cup that He must drink and share in the baptism of fire he must undergo. They tell Jesus that they can and are willing to do so, and Jesus tells them that they will share in these things. However, even with that, giving them positions of honor is not for Him to give. The Father in Heaven chooses these positions, and in all truth, they should not be asking this question.

Now back to the opening question, what is with the Apostles, and why does Jesus have to always correct them? Why do they not get it? Well before we judge them, we should remember that what has become familiar to us over the past 2,024 years was very new to them. They were very much thinking like people of the Roman World, and they were acting according to the ideas of the time and certainly on how one could get ahead. It is not that they do not believe in Jesus and the coming of the Kingdom, they just did not understand that the Kingdom of God is different from anything they ever knew; from anything we have ever known. Jesus is telling them to realize that the citizens of the Kingdom must abandon all pre-conceived societal notions and see things the way He is telling them.

Lucky for us, the Apostles did not always get it right, because as Jesus corrects them, He teaches us how we should live in this world and in the next. The great lesson we learn here is how Christians should exercise authority in the Church and toward the world. Jesus did not put down authority and structure; He vested full authority with the Apostles who were called apart from the rest of His disciples. Afterward, the Apostles established the Order of Deacons to minister to the physical needs of the people, and as we see in Paul's Letter there are indeed many distinct roles, gifts, and ministries in the Church, two thousand years ago and today. No, Jesus does not oppose the idea that some are to be in authority over others, but He does tell us that the nature of Christian Authority is SERVICE! We are to follow Jesus' words when He says, "The Son of Man did not come to be served, but to serve and give his life as a ransom for the many." When the Church leadership loses sight of the fact that they are to lead by giving their lives in service to the flock, then we see trouble and misunderstandings as we have seen happen throughout the Church's history.

We must not make the same mistake as James and John in today's Gospel, but we must act like the Apostles acted after they received the Holy Spirit at Pentecost. These were the Apostles, who like Jesus, gave their lives in total service to the flock that Jesus gave them to shepherd. We too are to give ourselves in service to one another, and we must not laud any authority given to us (either in the Church, the world, or within our families) not just for our own good, but for the good of all.

Please keep praying for our young people preparing to receive the Sacrament of Confirmation during this month, that they will receive the gifts of the Holy Spirit and learn how to use them for the good of the community. Also remember on Sunday November 3rd at 3:00 PM we will celebrate a Mass of Remembrance for all those who have died in the past year.

God bless you always!

Fr. Mike

Next Week's Readings

Thirty-first Sunday in Ordinary Time

November 3, 2024

First Reading - Deuteronomy 6:2-6

Psalms - 18:2-3, 3-4, 47, 51

Second Reading - Hebrews 7:23-28

Gospel - Mark 12:28b-34

Next Week's Gospel Question

In Mark's Gospel a scribe asked Jesus "Which is the first of all the commandments?" Jesus replied saying that "You shall love the Lord your God with all your heart, ...soul, ...mind, and...strength". When Jesus saw that the scribe truly understood, He said to him "You are not far from the kingdom of God".

Hearing Jesus' words, can you say that you love God with all your heart, soul, mind and strength? What more could you do?

Did You Know

St. Edwards' public rosary in honor of the 107th anniversary of our Lady of Fatima took place on Saturday, October 12th in front of the old church on Jackson Avenue and was a great success. The weather was beautiful, (thanks to prayers to Mother Mary), voices were raised loudly and clearly in prayer for world peace, and there was an approximate turn out of about 70 people in attendance. (see pics below) All in all, a wonderful day and complete success! Many thanks go out to all those who attended, and most especially those responsible for putting it all together and making it happen.
