From Fr. Mike's Desk

As we listen to the first reading for this week and the Gospel that matches it perfectly, we could be very complacent in paying attention to them, but we must not make this mistake. Isaiah tells us in the Song of the Vineyard how disappointed the owner of the vineyard is with its yield. The owner did everything for the vineyard to make sure all would be fine. Yet when he comes to pick the grapes, the owner finds wild grapes, completely worthless. Isaiah plainly tells us that the owner is God Himself, and the vineyard is Israel. God is disappointed because He looks for wise judgment and sees only bloodshed; likewise, He looks for justice but finds only the outcry of sin, death, and darkness. As we read the Gospel, we can guess that the servants of the property owner were the prophets who were mistreated, and in some cases killed. We, of course, can identify the son of the landowner as none other than Jesus. Listen to what Jesus says to the Priests and the Elders, after He asks them what the owner should do to the tenant farmers. By their own testimony, they told Jesus that the owner should remove those wicked men and lease his vineyard to new tenants. So, Jesus tells them plainly, "...the kingdom of God will be taken away from you and given to people that will produce its fruit." The leaders and the people of the Church will replace the leaders of Israel. We are the new tenants, and our command is to produce much fruit.

We cannot accept this invitation lightly, nor should we say oh well, we know this already, so what else is new? No, we must actively live out this call and approach it every day as if it were the first time we heard the invitation. So how do we accomplish this, most certainly with the help of God, and we should follow the advice that St. Paul gives to the people of Philippi. As he writes, "Finally brothers and sisters, whatever is true, whatever is honorable, whatever is just, whatever is pure, whatever is lovely, whatever is gracious, if there is any excellence and if there is anything worthy of praise think about these things. Keep on doing what you have learned and received and heard and seen in me. Then the God of peace will be with you."

Please keep in your prayers our young people who will receive Confirmation next month. May they always follow Paul's advice as they receive the Gifts of the Holy Spirit.

God bless you for always, and thank you for all you do for our beautiful parish!

Fr. Mike

Next Week's Readings

Twenty-eighth Sunday in Ordinary Time

October 11, 2026

First Reading - Isaiah 25:6-10a

Psalm 23:1-3a, 3b-4, 5, 6

Second Reading - Philippians 4:12-14, 19-20

Gospel - Matthew 22:1-14

Next Week's Gospel Question

In Matthew's Gospel Jesus tells the chief priests and elders of the people a parable whereby a king gave a wedding feast for his son. The king sent his servants to call those who were invited, but they refused to come, and then killed the servants. The king sent his troops to destroy the murderers and burn their city. More servants then went out having been ordered to call anyone they could find. One man came to the feast but he was not properly attired, and the king had him cast out, saying '*many are invited, but few are chosen'.

Many of us hear God's call, but in order to be chosen, we must change our lives and hearts, living out our faith with love and obedience to God's will. What must you do to be one of His 'chosen' people?
