From Fr. Mike's Desk

Today's readings are inviting us to a party, a great banquet. This banquet will have choice wine, rich juicy food, and the works. Wow, think of it: we are invited to a great party with many other people. However, we must send an RSVP; we must actively say yes to the invitation, and we must be properly dressed. The party is a wedding banquet, which is also known as the Great Eschatological Banquet in the Kingdom of Heaven. It is the wedding feast for Christ the Groom and His lovely Bride, the Church. At the banquet, or just before the seating begins, God will destroy the veil that covers all nations and people, namely death. As Isaiah tells us, "Behold our God, to whom we looked to save us...let us rejoice and be glad that he has saved us!" The last enemy to be destroyed is death, and now comes eternal life." However, we are told that life in the Kingdom is not a sure thing for everyone. Why? Because few are chosen, and those who are not have actively refused the invitation.

We see this in the beginning of the Gospel account when those who were invited to the King's son's wedding made excuses for why they were unable to attend. So, the King revoked their invitation and decided to go out and invite anyone his servants found on the streets, good and bad alike. Yet, one of those who came into the hall off the street was not properly dressed for a wedding. When the King came to greet his new guest, he came upon this man and ordered him thrown out, with the instructions that he be bound hand and foot, and we are left to ask ourselves about the King's very harsh behavior. After all, this man was invited to the party after all of those who were originally invited turned down the invitation. He was invited at the last second and taken off the street; surely, he was not expecting to come before the presence of the King. Would Jesus suggest that someone be thrown out just because they did not have the right clothes? Yes, this man might have been poor, and as Jesus tells us in Luke's Gospel, the poor are blessed. But Jesus is the one telling the story, and He is indeed telling us this man was thrown out for not being properly dressed. But as always, there is more than meets the eye in this account. The man who came into the banquet hall who was not properly dressed is just like those who refused the original invitation. Why? Because he refused to properly prepare himself for the banquet like them. For you see, the King had prepared proper wedding clothes for those who did not have them, so they could be fully prepared and enter into the wedding feast, but he refused to put them on; he refused to properly dispose himself to enter into Heaven.

Jesus is telling us that many will be invited, and those who come must clothe themselves with the proper garments of the Gospel and Baptism. Our Lord is telling us that we are invited to the wedding feast, but the question comes to us: how will we answer the invitation? How will we as a Church and as a Parish answer? Will we tell the Lord that we are too busy with worldly affairs, and we do not have time for God? Or will we answer the invitation by mistreating those sent out by the King (Bishops, Priests, Deacons, Religious Men and Women, and Lay Ministers) who work hard to help you to say yes to God? Or will you come just for the Cocktail Hour and forget the rest of the party by not being fully dressed or prepared? Jesus invites us every day to come to His banquet here on Earth; it is found in the celebration of the Mass. By coming, we are clothed for the wedding banquet in Heaven and more. So, you and I are invited; please say yes, and please ask God to help you always to say yes to life.

God bless you for always!

Fr. Mike

Next Week's Readings

Twenty-ninth Sunday in Ordinary Time

October 18, 2026

First Reading - Isaiah 45:1, 4-6

Psalms 96:1, 3, 4-5, 7-8, 9-10

Second Reading - 1 Thessalonians 1:1-5b

Gospel - Matthew 22:15-21

Next Week's Gospel Question

In Matthew's Gospel we hear how the Pharisees looked to entrap Jesus. The Pharisees sent their disciples to first disarm Jesus by saying "Teacher, we know you are a truthful man", and that your opinions are your own. Then they asked Jesus His opinion on whether it was lawful to pay the census tax to Caesar, or not. Jesus then asked to be shown a coin used to pay the census tax. The image on the coin was of Caesar. Jesus said to them "...repay to Caesar what belongs to Caesar and to God what belongs to God."

Just as the coin bore the image of Caesar to whom taxes must be paid, each of us bears the mark and image of God, our creator. What do you owe God, and how will you repay it?
