From Fr. Mike's Desk

As we look at our Old Testament reading from the Book of Wisdom, and today's reading from Mark, we can see why the Liturgists of the Church put these two readings together. Remember; except for the Easter Season, the first reading and the gospel have some form of connection. Of course, during the Easter Season, the first reading comes from the Acts of the Apostles. This week we can see the connection, as Wisdom gives us a Prophetic Old Testament account of what will happen to the Messiah. This can be perceived especially when we read, "Let us beset the just one...he set himself against our doings." "For if the just one be the son of God, God will defend him, and deliver him from the hands of his foes...Let us condemn him to a shameful death; for according to his own words, God will take care of him." Now compare this to what Jesus tells the Apostles, "The Son of Man is to be handed over to men and they will kill him."

Without a doubt, they work together; however, the human author of Wisdom did not intend this to be a prophecy about the Messiah, as he wrote this passage to tell us about human nature and weakness. Look at the many Saints throughout the Church's history, the Prophets of Old, and any great person in world history who worked for the good of others. So many times, people have gone against these good people or tried to find any flaw they could. So many times, people have tried to take them down or evaluate them, and Wisdom's author is asking why. Why do we not rally behind these good people? Why do we not immediately follow their good example? The answer is fear of being hurt by that person, or we have learned not to be too trusting. We have seen too many con men throughout history who at first looked so good but turned out to be so bad and had to be destroyed. People like Caesar, Napoleon, Mussolini, Hitler, and I am sure you can add a few more names. So, while we should be careful at the beginning, why is it that after the person has proven him or herself, so many still go against that person? This reaction comes from jealousy or the fear that we can never hope to be as good as that person, so we look for shortcomings and flaws. So, we will not feel bad or so we have an excuse to turn away. It is hard for us to see where we fall short in our own lives. Therefore, Wisdom is urging us to avoid this behavior. Once we know that person is profoundly good and truly, from God, we should do our best to follow that person.

If only the teachers and the leaders during Jesus' Public Ministry had understood Wisdom's lesson, their response to Jesus would have been different. Even the Apostles did not understand the lesson when they argued amongst themselves who was greater. While they truly saw the goodness of Jesus, they still could not see it in each other as they fought for Our Lord's approval. They allowed their fears and shortcomings to get the best of them, as they thought they were going to be left behind. Nevertheless, this is not what it means to be a follower of Christ. If we have truly accepted Christ, we must work for the good of all and we must all, do it together. This is why Jesus places the child in their midst and tells them, "Whoever receives one child such as this in my name, receives me; and the one who sent me." Why does Jesus choose a child? In Jesus' day, a child was considered the property of his or her father, and the child owned nothing and had no power to control their own life. So, if Christ's disciples function as innocently and as powerless as a little child, they will gain everything. They will not gain anything of earthly power and riches, no, they will gain everything that comes down from God and leads to Eternal Life in Heaven. Let us learn Wisdom's Lesson and let us freely and without fear follow Christ.

God bless you always!

Fr. Mike

Next Week's Readings

Twenty-sixth Sunday in Ordinary Time

September 29, 2024

First Reading - Numbers 11:25-29

Psalms - 19:8, 10, 12-13, 14

Second Reading - James 5:1-6

Gospel - Mark 9:38-43, 45, 47-48

Next Week's Gospel Question

Mark's Gospel tells us how some of the Apostles attempted to stop someone outside their group from driving out demons in Jesus' name. Jesus rebuked the Apostles saying "whoever is not against us is for us."

As followers of Jesus' teachings, we should support each other by using our own unique gifts and talents. Have you ever undermined someone else's work through your words, because you weren't directly involved or thought their efforts were of little value?

CATECHETICAL SUNDAY

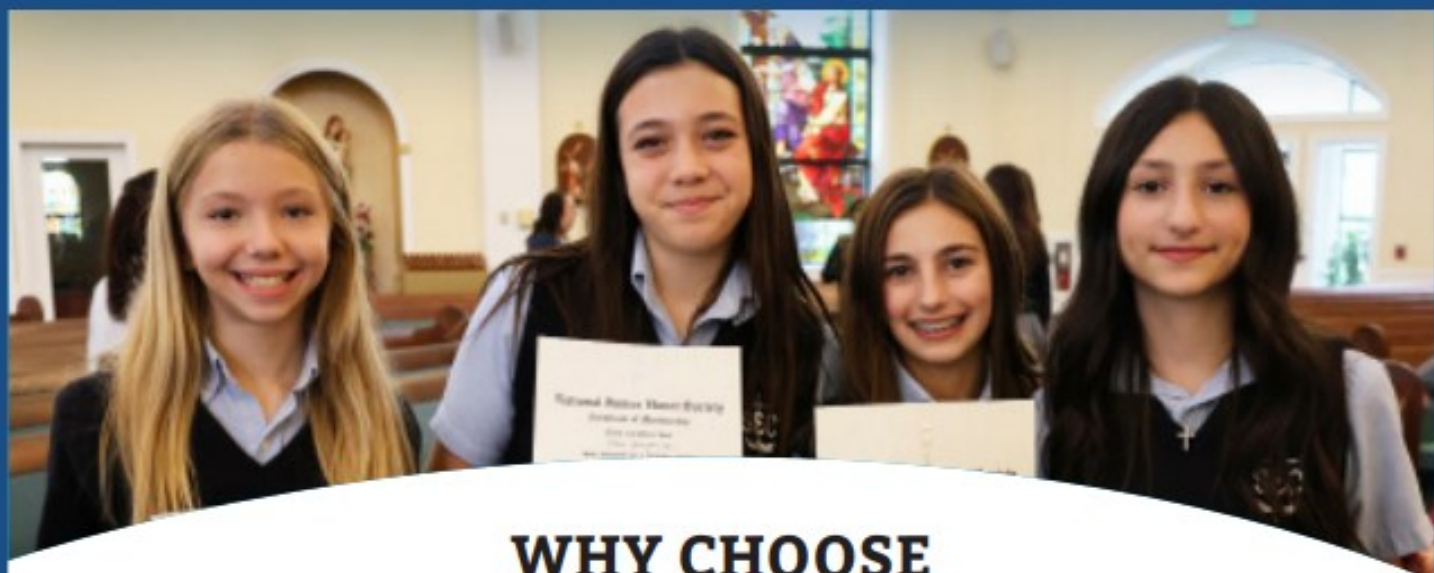

This weekend, we join with the global Church to celebrate Catechetical Sunday. It is a day set aside to acknowledge and to give thanks for the faithful and generous service of our Catechists. These dedicated men and women volunteer to come every week during the school year to teach the Faith to our young people. St. Edward's Church in Syosset will continue to flourish for years to come because of their steadfast commitment to catechizing our youth. As a small token of our appreciation for their teaching ministry here at Saint Edward's, there will be a special blessing at all the Masses this weekend for these teachers of the Faith .

We ask that you keep these fellow parishioners in your prayers as they begin a school year of religious education for our young people.
