RE: Walmart's Decision to Stop Political Contributions to Members of Congress Who Opposed the Certifying the Results of the 2020 Presidential Election

Dear Doug McMillon:

I have been a customer of Walmart for __ years. I have appreciated the price and variety of products your company makes available for my family shopping needs. The customer service I experience at Walmart has been nearly flawless. However, Mr. McMillon, something has happened to change my mind about shopping at your company.

I read in the January 12 of the New York Times where your company has decided to "indefinitely" suspend political donations to members of Congress who voted on January 6 against certifying the results of the November 3rd presidential election. To be honest with you, I am fed up with Corporate America spending money that was made by my purchases to lobby Congress on issues that run contrary to my and my family's values.

Until Walmart changes its position on this matter, and I read from Walmart's spokesperson, Randy Hargrove of this change in policy, I will no longer choose to patronize any Walmart. In fact, I am preparing to begin telling and encouraging my friends and family to also stop patronizing Walmart and to shop at other businesses that are patriotic and support our family values. I will be working on organizing and putting together a list of alternative businesses that we can support instead of financing your corporate lobbying efforts.

A wise man once said, "There is only one boss-the customer. And he can fire everybody in the company from the chairman on down, simply by spending his money somewhere else." Mr. McMillon, I plan to heed Sam Walton's advice. For the time being, You're fired!

Thank you for your time and consideration with this important matter.

Sincerely,
