Keep It Cool. Keep It Effective.

Follow these tips to ensure maximum effectiveness

Heat exposure can quickly reduce your medication's effectiveness—sometimes in just minutes. Even when it's only 80°F outside, the inside of your car can exceed 100°F within minutes.

Cars, purses, and everyday errands can expose your medication to unsafe temperatures. Because each dose is only about 1 mL, it can warm very quickly—potentially in under a minute if placed on a hot car seat or surface.

Keep your medication cool and properly protected at all times.
