

TROUBADOURS BY THE SHORE

POETS AND SAGES

If I could not dream, I'd be content
I'd face the random gale and fly
Through the oceans of leaves and dying trees
Through forest of waves on the lonely seas
David Wilson

For you are the sand,
and I am the foam...
and together we are an ocean
of unexplored dreams...
