HOLSTON UNITED METHODIST

“And we know that all things work together for good to them that love God, to them who are called according to his purpose.”

Romans 8:28

Fear was no stranger to Annie when she came to Holston Home. During her first few weeks she quietly kept to herself and didn't let anyone see what was truly going on in her heart. Through a series of conversations Annie revealed that she had never heard about Jesus Christ. His name was completely foreign to her.

When her roommate heard this she decided to take Annie under her wing. The two girls began to read the Bible together and Annie's questions about God were explained to her. Together, the girls reached out to the campus minister and Annie gave her life to Jesus.

Within two weeks of making her decision, Annie wanted to face another one of her fears. For most of her life, Annie had been afraid of the water. However, with new-found courage in her heart she decided that she wanted to be baptized.

Annie is now experiencing life in a new way. She is discovering that, despite her past, fear no longer controls her. Because of the generous gifts from donors like you, Holston Home can continue to be a place where young people find hope for a future and freedom from the past. Please join us today and give generously to the mission of Holston United Methodist Home for Children.

Please give generously. The children need your support.
