

Change the world in 500 words.

I didn't fully understand the task that we were set, however it is irrelevant, as what I am writing is of much more significance and interest, not just to this group, but to humanity in general.

As a child, I was not allowed to have a voice or express myself. At the time I was unhappy with the situation, but I now realise that it was the best training ground I could have had. I spent my childhood silently conversing with higher powers, who educated me, meaning that I now have a justifiable and valid opinion on any subject in the world. I could give you a 20-minute lecture on any subject from aerodynamics to zymosis.

I am the most important person in this room. I am the most important person in this town, in this county, in this country and in the world.

If I say jump you do not have time to say 'how high' you should just immediately jump. You may have noted that I do not like being talked over or interrupted, that is because what I have to say is of far more importance than anything any of you have to express.

I have a direct communication with the highest being of the universe. I can ask anything through my mind and receive an immediate reply. The highest being of the universe is here for mankind's progress and is fully intent on spreading love and acceptance rather than hatred and diversity.

I take time to come to Watford writer's meetings, because I understand that you are a group of open-minded people who can extend the word of love and acceptance through your writings. This distribution of the truth means that these advanced ideas and systems will spread throughout the world without undue delay.

I do not have the time or the inclination to go out to work to earn money. Money is not of importance to me. My priority is to change the world one person at a time. I already have thousands upon thousands of followers; people who listen, and regard my opinion as being of paramount importance.

I would ask you not to demean yourselves by asking me any questions, just follow me and do as I say. I command nothing, but suggest everything. I know that as intelligent beings, you only have to look into my eyes to see the reality of what I am saying, and to understand the truth in my words.

I am not asking that you worship me, for I am not a God, but I do pass the word of God down to you.

I am not permitted to share the consequences of you ignoring my doctrines. The words I speak are of the highest wisdom and will lead our world to a better future.

I will not thank you for listening as you should have realised by now that it is your duty to take heed.

Be still and know that I represent God. I will be exalted amongst the nations, I will be exalted on the earth. I will be exalted in the universe.
