

Blink of an Eye

*

Travel light and travel far, the sparkle of that distant star began its celestial journey when this universe was early, way before the break of dawn, long before our sun was born, when the universal author swept cosmic dust to this corner of our solar neighbourhood, gathering till our world stood.
Now it comes, drawing near,
Looking up, now it's here, the twinkle in that velvet sky is caught in the blink of an eye.