The Entrepreneur

I’m finding it hard to end my lines

With poetic words that properly rhyme.

You have no idea the trouble it….

Takes me to find a rhyming couplet.

Perhaps I’ll build a wondrous machine

To select rhymes neat and clean

That don’t sound like I’ve arrived

At endings that feel contrived.

A Shakespeare crunching,

Dickens munching,

Generator of words that chime

With rhymes that stand the test of time.

And so, I’m off to Dragon’s Den

And if they back my invention then,

I’ll make a fortune – a happy ending.

With my rhyme machine (patent p…ending).