

Out of Left Field

by Sumi Watters

The sun refused to come out the day
His announcement came out of the blue,
He'd come out to say he'll be Commander-in-Chief
No one believed that he'd follow through.

But his supporters came out of the woodwork
All sporting red MAGA hats,
They came out in droves to hear the fool speak
Against the "Do Nothing" Democrats.

He rallied across all the Red States,
Chanting "Build the wall!" and "Lock her up!"
He came out with lies and hollered "Fake news!"
He boasted he'll come out on top.

The world, meanwhile, watched in shock-horror
As he toppled opponents like dominoes,
The debates were a farce, a joke, a disgrace
Yet he came out smelling like a rose.

His win came out of left field
Despite "grab 'em" scandals and sin,
He came out of the White House wearing a smirk
Shouting Make America Great Again!

He divided the country like no other
Many came out to march against his ways,
For four years we cringed at his every move
We counted down months, weeks, and days.

Until at long last he was defeated
And we were free of his rhetoric tosh,
But his acts aren't forgotten, and justice will prevail
When all his crimes come out in the wash.
