

Special Message
From Rev. Harry Harper

Paul Sangster tells of an incident when his father went to visit a girl in hospital who was going blind, and whom no human skill was able to help. “Mr. Sangster, “ Jesse said, “God is going to take my sight away”. For a little while Sangster did not answer. Then he said, “Don’t let him, Jesse. Give it to him”. “What do you mean”? she asked. “Try to pray this prayer”, He answered: “Father, if for any reason I must lose my sight, help me to give it to you”.

No one ever gets anywhere by running away from life; however difficult life may be we still have to stand up to it. No one ever achieves anything by refusing to help himself.

Suppose health be lost, there is something we can do to pick up the threads again.

Suppose devastating sorrow comes, there is something we can do to get through the terrible days.

Suppose crushing disappointment comes, and hopes are dead, there is something left out of which to rebuild.

Suppose some sin or folly or mistake wrecks life, there is something still left to be salvaged from the wreckage.

It is always true that God is helpless to help those who refuse to be helped.

When a man faces things in their agony, God comes in and makes the impossible possible.
