ABOUT MECHA SWAIN

Mecha Swain, the dynamic founder and CEO of Mecha Media, LLC, is the creative force propelling SlapStik Comedy Entertainment since its inception in 2005. Her journey in the media landscape began with a flair for storytelling as a journalism student and a staff reporter, where her compelling narratives frequently graced the front page. Inspired by her passion for writing and encouraged by peers, Mecha transitioned from aspiring broadcaster to pioneering entrepreneur, creating the unique and beloved brand of SlapStik Comedy. As a dedicated single mother and a self-described seeker of truth and laughter, Mecha continues to drive the brand forward with her commitment to authenticity, innovation, and shared joy in the world of comedy. With early experiences as a news anchor and internships at prominent media houses like MTV and BET, Mecha pursued a major in Communications, focusing on broadcasting and journalism. Her love for media combined with an entrepreneurial spirit led her to establish Mecha Media in 2005. The main inspiration behind focusing on comedy was to fill a void in the market and provide uplifting content.

Mecha Swain, with unwavering determination and entrepreneurial spirit, single-handedly founded SlapStik Comedy, bootstrapping the venture with her own funds and growing it into a renowned comedy platform without the assistance of any outside investors.
