The Holocaust from the Liberators' Point of View

Dear Friends,

Last month, we commemorated Holocaust Remembrance Day—Yom HaShoah. I said at the end of my talk that it is vital to commemorate Holocaust Memorial Day even though we cannot change the past. By remembering the past, we can change the future. Recent Holocaust knowledge surveys showed shocking levels of ignorance. A new study shows that there were more than 40,000 death camps and ghettos during the Holocaust, and 48% of young American adults could not name a single one of them!

I am sharing with you an essay that appears in The American Rabbi, an online rabbinical resource, describing the horrors of the Holocaust from the liberators' point of view:

“World War II will be remembered in infamy for countless reasons – the most horrific being the systematic extermination of 6 million Jews during the Holocaust. As many around the world observe Yom HaShoah – Israel’s solemn Holocaust Remembrance Day – on April 24, it is crucial to commemorate the traumatizing experiences that Allied soldiers witnessed while liberating Nazi concentration camps.

“In the spring of 1945, as troops pushed deeper into the collapsing Nazi regime, American forces encountered scenes that defied comprehension. Thousands of young soldiers, far from home and hardened by war, were unprepared for the horrifying cruelty and dehumanization they encountered. Soviet forces liberated Auschwitz-Birkenau, while British and Canadian troops liberated other notorious death camps. For these soldiers, the liberation of Nazi death camps became more than just a military operation – they documented the horrors of the Holocaust. This sent many spiraling into a nightmare that would forever alter their understanding of humanity.

Unforeseen Horror: ‘War did not prepare us for this’

“Gen. Patton’s troops at Buchenwald, the 45th Infantry Division at Dachau, and the 7th Army at Landsberg did not face enemy combatants in these camps. They confronted the victims of a genocidal ideology: the emaciated survivors, the piles of corpses, and the overwhelming stench of death. This was not the expected brutality of battle, but a calculated and industrialized system of extermination, fueled by a virulent hatred of Jews – antisemitism – and other targeted groups.

“U.S. veteran Ernest James recalled the shock his unit encountered at the Dora-Mittelbau concentration camp in Germany: ‘It’s indescribable. Some of my men threw up, others got violently angry. First of all, we were almost numbed to war. We’ve been in war from June to April and almost constantly in battle of one sort or another. We’d seen many, many people who were killed, violently killed. Yet, none of that had the same effect as seeing all this.’

“The soldiers’ experiences transcended the horrors of conventional warfare. They found themselves thrust into a world where human beings were systematically stripped of their humanity, reduced to skeletal figures and subjected to unimaginable suffering. The soldiers witnessed the devastating consequences of unchecked hatred of Jews – a sight that would haunt their memories for decades to come.

Documenting Atrocities: ‘Take photos to prevent Holocaust denial’

“The liberation of extermination camps was a profoundly gut-wrenching experience for soldiers. Amid the shock and horror, they were compelled to act. They provided immediate aid to the survivors, sharing their rations, arranging for medical care and documenting the atrocities for the world to see. The liberators became witnesses to a crime against humanity on a scale that few could have imagined. Their actions in the aftermath of liberation played a crucial role in bringing the truth of the Holocaust to light.

“American liberator Alan Moskin served under Gen. Patton. In Alan’s testimony, he recalled the orders delivered by his captain, in the name of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, Supreme Commander of the Allied Expeditionary Force: ‘I want you to take photos, I want you to get everything down, I don’t want my ‘grunts’ to pick up those bodies. I want you to bring people in from town, bring the trucks, let them see the bodies, make them put them on the trucks, because someday people are going to say we made it up. They won’t believe it.’ Gen. Eisenhower correctly predicted Holocaust denial.

“Alan also described the effects of what he witnessed: ‘I had severe nightmares after the war. I was crying, I had sweats and fits of cursing. They called it shell shock and battle fatigue, and they didn’t know how to treat it. So I locked up part of my brain and said I was not going to talk about those experiences because I was afraid to bring back those memories. I didn’t tell my wife or kids.’ He did not speak about his experience until 1995. Dachau liberator Seymour Kaplan was not diagnosed with post-traumatic stress disorder until 2009.

Enduring Impact: ‘Liberators suffered terribly’

“George Kaiser, liberator at Dachau: ‘It was as if I had entered hell. The smell was so overpowering I got sick and ran out. In the courtyard, I couldn’t move. My mind froze. The shock was complete and total. Especially when we saw the crematoria – it was still hot, with these piles of bodies, stacked five bodies high.’ George began shaking when he told his story to Leila Levinson, a therapist and daughter of a liberator, who interviewed Americans in Concentration Camp Liberators Reveal Their Silent Trauma.”

Yom HaShoah serves as a crucial reminder of this dark chapter in human history. It is a day to mourn the millions who perished and to honor those who, like the American liberators, confronted its horrors. Their story is a testament to both the depths of human cruelty and the resilience of the human spirit.

We have a responsibility to play an active role in shaping our history. We must never forget. Never Again.

The memories of the innocent victims will stay with us forever. May their souls be bound up in the bond of everlasting life.     Amen

Sisterhood Doings... June / July 2025

Women rock! On April 26, 2025, Sisterhood sponsored a Women's Shabbat. Todah Rabah to Roz Weinerman and Shari Palermo. Roz assigned the parts to our many participants, and Shari headed up the delicious Kiddush meal committee. It was so wonderful to see our women taking such an active role in the service. Kol HaKavod!

It may seem too early to think about the New Year's card and the Challah/Honey Cake orders, but Erev Rosh HaShanah is September 22. So, in that light, flyers are in this Bulletin for both because the deadlines for orders are early September. You can start sending in your orders and mark that off your "To Do" list for the holidays.

It is time to start bringing in your items for the Yard Sale and Tchotchke Closet. Drop off items 10:00 a.m. - 12:00 p.m., Monday- Friday. Carol Seplow and Vita Friedman will sort through the donations and put them in the appropriate places. Temple members and their guests are invited to shop in the Tchotchke Closet Monday - Friday, 9:30 a.m. - 12:30 p.m. This is a major Sisterhood fundraiser. Please see the flyer for more information. If you can help, contact Carol or Vita.

Not quite sure how they keep doing it, but Marilyn Minkoff and Vita Friedman ran a very successful Mah-Jongg tournament on May 14. As usual, the food was delicious, and everyone really enjoyed themselves. None of this would have been possible without the bevy of volunteers: Carol Seplow, Lynne Baronoff, Sharon Rubin, Isabel Pfeffer, Anne Peacock, Bobbie Lipman, Sandy Stamer, Dori Schefflin, Roz Weinerman, Roz Hanlon, Vivian Stevens, Heather Concklin, Annette Gordon, and Ann Seplow. Also, to our Brotherhood volunteers for setting up and taking down the tables; Harvey Pollack, Danny Winkler, Mark Sloan, and Larry Kopelman. Todah Rabah to everyone!

It's tea party time! Marianne Levenson will open her home on August 10, 2025, for a Sisterhood Tea Party. Please join us for an afternoon of fun and camaraderie. So mark your calendars and come join us. Hats are optional. Please see flyer for more details.

If you are thinking of purchasing something from Pampered Chef, please wait. On August 15, Sisterhood is launching an online Pampered Chef party. We will receive 15% of the sales up to $650.00 and 30% after $650.00. Details to follow.

Have a fantastic summer, wear sunscreen, and stay hydrated!

B'Shalom,
Perri Sullivan

CHEVRA KADISHA - HOLY SOCIETY

We are in great need of MALE Chevra Kadisha volunteers.

The Chevra Kadisha (literally, "holy society") prepares a Jewish body for interment. In our tradition, this mitzvah is considered among the highest and holiest of all the mitzvot. It is called Chesed Shel Emet, which means a true act of loving-kindness, since the deceased can never repay you.

If you would be willing to help perform this extremely important mitzvah, please contact Dr. Larry Kopelman or Rabbi Avi.

Hebrew School Happenings

Mazel Tov to Tziporah Lowe on her Bat Mitzvah! Tziporah did an amazing job, and we are all so very proud of her.

What a great year we had in Hebrew School! The children learned so much under the tutelage of Rabbi Avi, Morah Mira, and Morah Chana. On top of studying, the students enjoyed decorating the Sukkah, making edible Chanukiot, planting parsley and participating at the Tu B'Shevat Seder, and taking an active role at the Model Passover Seder. On the last day, each child designed a New Year's card to enter into the contest, and we finished off the day with an ice cream party. Fun! Fun!

Have a wonderful summer, and we will see you next fall.

Morah Perri,
Principal
