National Speak Up For Victims of Sexual Abuse Day

"National Speak Up for Victims of Sexual Abuse Day is observed on October 18 every year. This day is dedicated to raising awareness about the horrors of sexual abuse. Men, women, and children, anyone can be a victim of sexual assault. While it's common for sexual abuse to go unreported, victims suffer greatly as a result. Acknowledging these victims and helping them in opening up about their experiences promotes healing. This day is an essential part of a larger effort to support all victims of sexual abuse."

"How should this day be celebrated or observed?"

This day should be observed by recognizing victims of sexual abuse and giving them the positivity and support they need to help them heal. Giving them that recognition allows them to speak up about their experience without fear or judgment. Recognize these victims by wearing teal, the color of support for victims of sexual abuse, showing other forms of support, and spreading the message in any way you can.

Who created this day?

This day was created in October 2021 on behalf of Jack Nunnery."
