In Staying a Part of the Greatest Love Story

In my nearly twenty years of being a priest, the most eventful celebrations that I have witnessed across family lines and geographical boundaries, with a common exciting feeling, is Holy Matrimony. From Ghana to the U.S., from New York to Iowa and beyond, marriage celebration is truly an exciting moment with a love storyline that everyone gets to be part of— family and friends.

Well, if the marriage of a family member or friend can energize us so much, the question is: have you taken a moment to consider the all-time love story of which all humanity is involved in, in which you are at the center of it all? Consider the excitement of the crowd when they saw Jesus in the gospel; they had earlier on experienced the miracle of the multiplication of bread so, they came again.

In the last two years, Catholic America has become rejuvenated with this understanding following a National Eucharistic Revival and a Congress that took place in Indianapolis. Though the designated time for the Eucharistic Revival and the Congress is over, the impacts, the excitements, and the fruits live on and grow greater daily for many Catholics.

Once again, the love story we all share with God is playing in the proceedings, writings, videos, and posts from the event of the Congress. Tap into it. At the same time, in our parish church, the love story continues with the Lord and other parishioners.

I invite you and your family and all the families in our parish to come to Mass each day for us to celebrate like people called to be a part of a matrimony between Jesus and his bride, the Church. Be excited about the opportunity and the privilege to encounter the Lord when you come to the feast of the Lord. And just
