What Is Medicare For All?

Medicare is a U.S. government program run by the federal government for people over the age of 65 and people with severe disabilities, despite income. However, Medicare For All is a single-payer healthcare system (government-funded insurance plan) that allows every individual in America to have comprehensive healthcare coverage.

Why Is It Important?

Universal healthcare coverage certifies that all Americans are treated with equity and receive quality standards of healthcare. Overall, ensuring the affordability and accessibility to comprehensive healthcare through universal coverage, thus providing vital support to all Americans.

The COVID-19 pandemic has caused financial challenges, which are intensified by the cost of healthcare, delaying many Americans from receiving essential medical treatment and driving our fellow Americans to medical bankruptcy.
