"We are proud to keep the Arts Alive in Cambria County by showcasing the talented work of our local young artists. You are the future of the world of art. We applaud your efforts."

The Community Arts Center and Allied Artists are privileged to be presenting this compelling exhibition of artisanship representing a diverse group of art forms. Visitors are overwhelmed by the exceptional quality of the work and they appreciate the energy and discipline required to create the artwork, whatever the media. This exhibition is a highlight of our season because it brings so much pleasure to the viewer, along with a sense of pride in the quality of art taught in our area schools. We congratulate each student for sharing their "inner world" with the us and each teacher for nurturing the creative seed that is in each student. Congratulations to our area art educators, as this show allows us to see the passion and expertise you bring to the classroom each day.

Juror: Ken Cotlar, Allied Artists of Johnstown President

Kenneth Cotlar, originally from Bucks County, Pennsylvania; earned a BFA from Penn State University in 1969. He worked as a graphic design artist in Philadelphia for several years before moving to Cambria County to partner with his wife in business. He freelanced graphic design projects for various regional businesses as well as visual merchandising and advertising art. For three decades he painted sporadically, selling his works selectively. Retiring from business in early 2001, he returned to full time painting after graduate work at Indiana University of PA. His award winning paintings have been exhibited in numerous juried shows, one man exhibits, art festivals and are held in private collections throughout the United States.
