STEEL MILL INDUSTRIAL ART & ARTIFACTS

JANUARY 10—FEBRUARY 27, 2026

*An exhibit of industrial assemblages
by Joseph Hensel*

ABOUT THE ARTIST

Joseph Hensel

Assemblage artist Joseph Hensel's job as a Westinghouse salesman took him into mills, plants, and mines that dated back to 1900. He uses the original machine parts, wood foundry patterns and other industrial artifacts he salvaged to create sculpture and furniture.

He uses vintage Bethlehem and United States Steel mechanical drawings, documents, and photographs salvaged from 100-year-old fire vaults in his wall art and lamps depicting the industrial age. Those original drawings and photographs including steel worker photographs from the 30s & 40s, were scanned by Dr. Zaborowski of the Cambria Memory Project, affiliated with the Library of Congress and are digitally preserved.

Joseph Hensel's work can be seen online:
