

This is Aenon

Since 1941, Aenon Bible College has been the official ministerial training and leadership center of the Pentecostal Assemblies of the World. Founded in Columbus, Ohio by the late Bishop Karl F. Smith, Aenon has faithfully equipped Apostolic Pentecostal ministers and leaders across the U.S. and around the world for over eight decades.

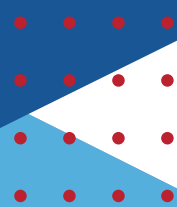

Rooted in our rich heritage and anointed by the Holy Spirit, Aenon's mission is clear: to provide systematic, faith-driven higher education that prepares ministers and leaders with the 21st-century skills they need to serve effectively and lead boldly.

Our experienced, credentialed, Holy Ghost-filled faculty and staff carry forward Aenon's legacy as the International Clearinghouse for Licensing and Ordination of Apostolic Pentecostal ministers — training men and women to lead with excellence and conviction, wherever God calls them.

Program Overview

The Lay Worker Certification

Aenon Bible College acknowledges that ministry takes on several formats and iterations. The Lay Worker Certification is designed for students interested in elevating their work in the church and community that is unique to their calling and vision from the Lord. Lay workers are essential to the Apostolic Pentecostal movement because they help fulfill the Great Commission (Matthew 28:19-20) and strengthen the local church. Lay workers are considered non-traditional ministers (non-classical preachers) who serve in various ministries and play a crucial role in supporting the church's mission. Their involvement is based on biblical principles and practical ministry needs. The Bible emphasizes that all believers are called to serve, not just ministers.

Aenon can provide support to leaders engaged in the following areas of ministry
