I'm a Bug Watcher!

Written by J. Albright & K. Turner
(Tune: Are You Sleeping?)

I'm a bug watcher,
I'm a bug watcher.
Don't you know?
Don't you know?
When I'm finished watching,
When I'm finished watching
I let them go!
I let them go!

I'm a Bug Watcher!

(Tune: Are You Sleeping?)

I'm a bug watcher.

I'm a bug watcher.

Don't you know?

Don't you know?

When I'm finished watching,

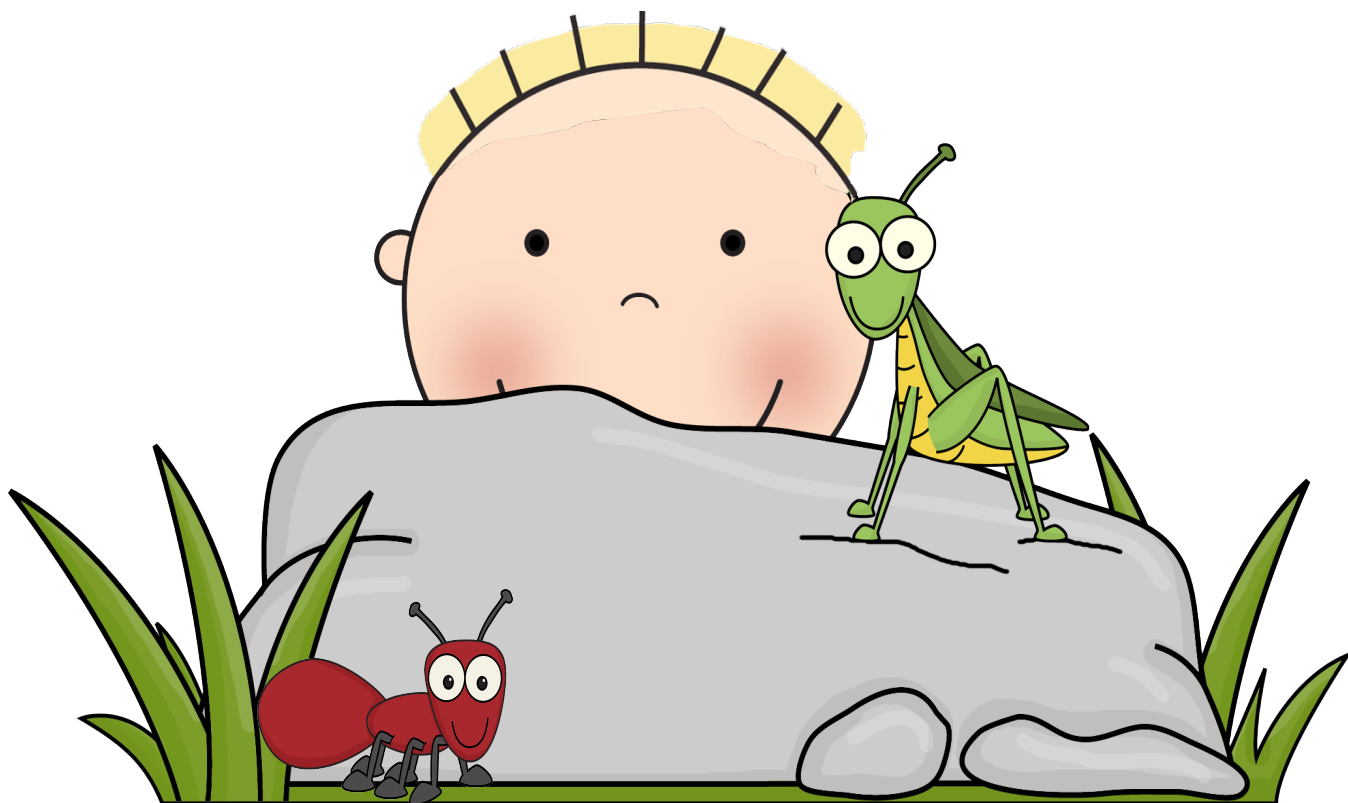

When I'm finished watching

I let them go!

I let them go!

★ Bug Watcher Writing Paper ★

Mini book: pages 6 & 7

Students write about their observations and/or create a descriptive sentence telling about an insect.

Give each student a cover and at least one writing “jar” paper. If they are capable of writing more than one descriptive sentence provide additional “jar” pages and create a small book of their writing.

Each student draws their own face on the cover (in the circle) as the “Bug Watcher”. Next, they draw the bug they are describing in the magnifying glass. They write a descriptive sentence(s) about their real or imaginary bug! Celebrate their descriptive writing by having children share their sentences in an Author’s Chair setting. The more they hear descriptive words being used the more quickly they will begin to use them naturally in their writing.

Poem Chart & Poetry Journal & Pocket Cards & Mini Book

Poem Chart: page 3

Prep: Print on card stock & laminate

Use: Practice reading and singing the poems with the whole class. Tune: Are You Sleeping? May use on a large screen to teach reading skills. Later, place the poem in a center and/or on wall for students to practice.

Poetry Journal/ Take Home: page 4

Prep: Print on regular paper.

Use: Read & sing the with class. Students draw & color bugs in their jar that they did catch or may catch-----
AND let them go!

Send home or place in a poetry journal for further practice.

Pocket Chart Pictures: pages 5 & 6

Prep: Print on card stock & laminate.

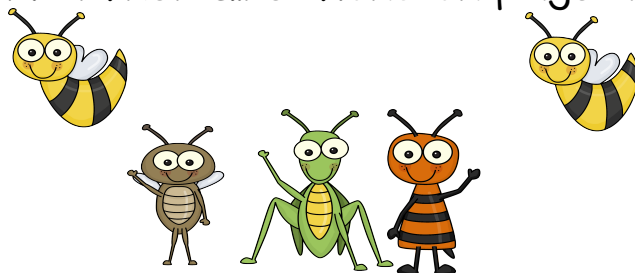

Use: These picture cards may be used with the words of the poem in a pocket chart to assist students in learning various reading skills: concepts of print, letter & sound recognition, sight words, vocabulary etc.

Mini Book Writing Papers: pages 7 & 8

Prep: Print on regular paper, cut in half & staple.

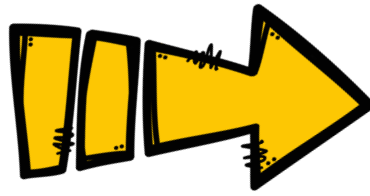

Use: The students write about the insects that they have observed.

(See sample & further directions on page 9.)

Oh, I'm a long, green, skinny
praying mantis,
living in a garden naturally.
And since I am a long, green
praying mantis,
that is what I truly love to be!

5 ladybugs flew past and landed on the wall.
2 more ladybugs landed on my hand.
How many ladybugs did I see in all?

Arachnids	Same	Insects
2 body parts	bugs	3 body parts
8 legs	abdomen	6 legs
no antennae	head	has antennae
	helps Nature	thorax
No wings		Some have wings
Up to 8 simple eyes	Egg layers- Oviparous	Compound eyes
Spins a web	Have an exoskeleton	No web
