

Kyr Grace is a singer-songwriter presently based in Boston. She was born in California, raised in Switzerland and the UK before landing in Massachusetts. Her first album, Dragonfly, debuted on Spotify and all streaming platforms on September 3, '21. She recorded the album with Morningbird, a favorite Boston band that plays venues across the Northeast. Producer extraordinaire Colin Fleming at Q Division made the songs possible.

Kyr Grace brings her heart and soul to her original music and lyrics. Her indie-pop ballads and bangers touch life experiences across generations. And album two is already in the works!

Kyr has engaged with music all her life, participating in choirs and competitive Capella groups while in college, and taking voice lessons at the New England Conservatory of Music. She plays the guitar, ukulele and piano. You can find Kyr playing at numerous open mics and gigs in the Boston area and on special occasion also “busking” along the walkways of Galway, Ireland.
