

FALL September FALL 2026

'Fall Colors' showed up in mid-September this year. Tree, Bush & Brush leaves must respond to the shorter daylight hours and 32° temp we had on the 15th. Then everything got hit with a killing frost of 27° on the 27th. Now Zinnia flowers look very sad.

They look like a bed of Halloween flowers now.

Fun Day at Mitch & Kwinci's... For some reason I have had a 'crush' on the cute little mini-excavators. I thought it would be fun to 'play' with one if ever the opportunity presented itself. As luck would have it, the Tatarka's happened to get one to use on their new drainage mitigation project at their place and invited me over to 'play'. Not only did I get to play with the mini-ex I also got to play with their skid-steer (1st time for that too). What a fun day!!! I caught on to the skid-steer OK and moved quite a bit of material with it. The mini-ex was more of a challenge and definitely requires more than one lesson. It would be fun to have enough practice time to get good at the mini-ex. Thanks again to them for patiently putting up with me!

September was a moist month.

We received a little over one and a half inches of rain throughout the month. It was getting dry but things have greened up again now.

The morning skies were beautiful the last week of the month.

That is it for now, take care &

Happy Fall
