

Summer Arts Camp Teaching Artist

About Summer Camp:

This summer, join Rising Youth Theatre at Phoenix Center for the Arts for Summer Arts Camp, offering young people the opportunity to experience a wide variety of art forms in a creative, collaborative environment. Each session culminates in a performance sharing and celebration.

Younger students (ages 5-9) will explore story and imagination through creative drama, taking on different characters and exploring fantastical worlds. They will also learn basic acting, movement, and visual art skills and be a part of a community.

Older students (ages 10-14) will participate in a skills intensive, focusing on acting, movement, voice, and design. They will work with experienced teaching artists to build their skills as performers and creatives!

Job Summary:

Rising Youth Theatre is seeking Teaching Artists for Summer Arts Camp. Teaching Artists will work as a part of a team of youth and adult instructors. Teaching artists of all artistic disciplines are encouraged to apply for this multi-disciplinary arts camp. Teaching Artists of color are particularly encouraged to apply, as are LGBTQ artists, artists across the gender spectrum, artists of all abilities, and artists with a wide range of artistic practice and training.
