

THE FOUR CORNERS OF THE WORLD

Where is Somalia on the map of the world? Can you or children locate Iran? Saudi Arabia? Iraq? Egypt? Yemen? Libya? Pakistan? Afghanistan? Kenya? Ethiopia? Morocco? Apart from Egypt, few students or adults educated in the United States can locate these countries wherein human civilizations thrived long before there was a London, Paris, or any other European center of world commerce or education. Thanks to colonization, however, Eurocentrism has extirpated the resplendent history of these melanin-rich nations from Western textbooks and Western thought. Stated differently, history did not begin in the hallowed halls of Athens, Oxford, or Cambridge. Objective scholars from the four corners of the world concur that nothing could be further from the truth, despite both the British and the American media's incessant portrayal of Europe as the cradle of civilization. Euphemistically, many sages describe this Hellenized world view as "his story". Antithetically, history affirms that at the zenith of its existence, the Library at Alexandria was the world's quintessential repository of knowledge. Yet, approximately three centuries before the birth of Christ, this epicenter of erudition was deliberately burned by European conquerors. Similarly, most American students would doubt that the world's oldest library is in Morocco vis-à-vis the United Kingdom or elsewhere in Europe. One of the most valuable life lessons I acquired as a student at the University of Miami was that people educated in other parts of the world think and reason logically more so than their emotional, narrow-minded American counterparts. At the time, I knew virtually nothing of "Black History" apart from slavery and the Civil Rights Era. Nevertheless, it became abundantly clear to me that I had been "brainwashed" by the American educational system. In the context of our domestic and foreign policy, how does such an obtuse world view impact the American psyche? As the world's only super power, what does "globalization" portend for the rest of mankind? Explain.

IF the United States is a "global leader", then where are WE the People being led? Examination of our educational system affirms that American students are not even close to being "global leaders" in morality, mathematics, formal logic, science, technology, environmental ecology, world history, or even world geography. Ergo, here in California, many school districts actively recruit STEM teachers from ASIAN countries because they routinely outperform American students on standardized tests. Concomitantly, less than 25% of the students in many school districts pass the [CAASPP] California Assessment of Student Performance and Progress. Stated differently, more than 75% of these students are failing to make adequate academic progress in math and reading. Obviously, some students from other countries will struggle with English language proficiency. However, many students whose parents and grandparents were born in the US also fail to pass the reading or the math component of these achievement tests. CV19 has exacerbated the problem over the past couple of years. Yet, is it possible that the "dumbing down" of public education has been a hidden agenda in the United States for more than a couple of decades? For example, during my first year as a substitute teacher I was reprimanded for giving middle school students math homework. New to California, I was euphoric about having been hired for a thirty-day assignment. The administration advised me to reteach the previous chapter on scatter grams because the mean quiz score was in the 30s. A week later, four of my 104 students scored 100% and the mean score was in the 60s. I was not expecting a medal for my success. However, I was shocked when the chairman of the math department instructed me to NOT give homework and to NOT allow students to take the textbook home! Similarly, after taking the CSET for Math and Science, I was informed that I passed. However, California's credentialing agency would not provide my percentile scores relative to other candidates. The explanation given was that the State did not want school districts to make hiring decisions based upon those rankings. "What the truck? F-150!" While Japan, China, India, Israel, and other countries value their best and brightest scholars, can the Silicon Valley compete IF we use racism to marginalize and to discriminate against highly intelligent applicants? Please watch the movie, "Hidden Figures", prior to answering that query. If WE the People of the United States are being led to becoming Orwellian proles and loggerheads, then are we a legitimate "global leader"? Explain.

European conquest of the New World has been accomplished primarily via [1] send in the troops, [2] take the indigenous people's land, [3] marginalize and murder them with impunity, and [4] then get filthy rich via the exploitation of their natural resources. As a result of European hegemony, humanity has lost countless native languages, animal species, religions, and cultural identities that formerly existed in the four corners of the world. During and immediately following the Bush-Blair invasion of IRAQ, Muslim men and teenage boys were apprehended, tortured, sodomized, and slaughtered capriciously by US troops and mercenaries. Ergo, is it possible, plausible, probable, or preposterous to think that the sovereignty of the family, mosque, madrasa, and the entire economy within this oil rich corner of the world has been subsumed by "American interests" rather than by alleged Islamic terrorists? Two decades after the fact, why have thousands of homes, hospitals, government institutions and businesses not yet been restored? Would any Christian nation do such a thing? Hypothetically, is the Talmud our "moral compass" that drives US foreign policy in terms of Eugenics in the Holy Lands? In a nation wherein "In God We Trust" has become a mere creed on the money upon which it is printed, has LUCIFER become our god? Is it possible, plausible, probable, or preposterous to think that WE Americans are the real terrorists? WE can't fix it IF we can't face it. In the aftermath of US war crimes, the dire need for humanitarian aid in this decimated corner of the world is not even mentioned in Congress or mainstream media as millions die of disease, more violence, and starvation. Similarly, many refugees are marginalized by the West as if 21st century Apartheid awaits those who survived the carnage. To what extent has a dramatic increase in human trafficking been a direct result of the Pentagon's hubris in the four corners of the world? In the New World Order, is it possible, plausible, probable, or preposterous to think this is the Rothschild's European definition of "globalization"? Explain.

Here in the US, is our citizenry's attention focused more upon feminism and capitalism than on the human suffering we have caused in the four corners of the world? For example, is anyone complaining about our "colonizing" IRAQ and profiteering from oil in the Middle East? With more than $8,000,000,000,000 in military spending that's unaccounted for by the Pentagon, why have we done so little to provide food and shelter for America's unemployed and homeless families? In this Age of Feminism, professional women now compete against men for positions of employment and empowerment. The media and their mothers have taught many of them that men can not be trusted. Ergo, in hiring decisions, do ambitious female managers and executives hold coveted positions in abeyance until the right woman applies? As public servants, how often do women provide "more service", both qualitatively and quantitatively, to their female applicants or clients? Hypothetically, IF a divorced female judge hears the case of an unfaithful husband, then could her residual bitterness toward her ex-husband trigger a subconscious desire to castrate the defendant without any incisions? As administrators and principals, do women have different expectations and greater support for the academic success of female students versus male students? Explain.

Could "Liberty and Justice for All" acquire new meaning in our corner of the world IF every successful, self-actualized man in the United States mentored just one convicted felon for as long as it takes for him to earn his GED and bachelor's degree? Transcendent of football or basketball, could mutual candor and transparency about the A's and F's on their Moral Report Cards redefine "male bonding", "my brother's keeper" and "In God We Trust"? Otherwise, will the vices they acquired in prison have an efferent impact upon their communities? Explain. What impact might it have IF wealthy entertainers and professional athletes in every city with a NFL or NBA team supplanted summer sports camps via a $500,000,000 endowment and non-profit foundation [that's less than Tiger Wood's divorce settlement] to provide ACADEMIC scholarships starting in 3rd grade for INTELLECTUAL competitions [i.e., chess, Classical music, computer coding, typing, debate, math, science, spelling, and reading comprehension, etc.] exclusively among boys in the hood? Imagine how requiring winners to adhere to high moral standards until age eighteen [i.e., must score at least 70% in Math and Reading on all standardized tests, no dropping out of high school, no smoking, no drinking, no babies out of wedlock, no drug use, no criminal record, no getting expelled from school, etc.] in order to collect the scholarship money would shift the paradigm in poor neighborhoods! Stated differently, "We Shall Overcome" IF and only if we invest in our Village rather than in conspicuous consumption. Moreover, why hasn't a coterie of multi-millionaire celebrities chartered credit unions and regional banks to mitigate redlining and to ameliorate opportunities for home ownership among qualified working-class applicants? Unlike Marcus Garvey, how long will WE remain hypnotized by Willie Lynch's mental slavery? Is it possible, plausible, probable, or preposterous to think that the Divine Nine has been programmed [or paid] not to resurrect Black Wall Street? Explain. WE can't fix it IF we can't face it. Stated differently, IF the score at half-time during the Super Bowl is 42 to 6, then should the losing head coach complain to the officials or admonish his defense to stop their opponent's quarterback and running back? When will we CRITICIZE and CORRECT child molestation, alcoholism, sagging pants exposing posterior cleavage, unmarried teen pregnancy, drug abuse, drive by shootings, domestic violence, the desuetude of black male intellectualism, and a plethora of other black-on-black vices? By definition, are vices a blessing or a curse to any community? Do black lives matter to black people or have WE acculturated to playing the "race card" whenever the Worshipful Master or advisors to the king tell us to do so? Does complaining to the officials change the score or the outcome of the game? Explain.

Morally speaking, IF a church's pastor is a woman, then will she teach her congregation GOD's Biblical mandate for women to be silent in the church and to submit to the authority of their husbands? Of course, most "church folks" never have read the entire Bible once, much less seven times, in order to pontificate and to practice what pleases God. Ergo, lukewarm congregations and clergy alike prefer political correctness over piety. Despite our nation's "spiritual blindness", gender is a moral issue according to the Scriptures. The Bible clearly warns Christians NOT to be conformed to the world; but to be transformed by the renewing of our minds. For example, did God exalt the pastor's wife to a position of leadership as the "First Lady" in His house? Did God command Moses to anoint and to sanctify Aaron and his wife, or his sons, for the priesthood? Albeit Christians are not obligated to obey Levitical Laws of purification, what did God prescribe for any unclean man or woman via a discharge of semen or blood? Did God ever allow any woman to enter the Holy of Holies? Does Galatians 3 indicate that God changed his mind regarding gender? Nevertheless, countless male and female pastors alike refuse to proclaim Biblical truths that contradict being politically correct. Even a blind atheist can see Satan rolling on the floor laughing at them for going along to get along with gender equality, the GLBT Movement, and other apostate agendas. Thus, our willful disobedience to God has created a reprobate "Me Too" culture, which is another Trojan Horse hoping ultimately to supplant male authority throughout society. Akin to the GLBT Movement, is "sexual freedom" or the total elimination of GOD'S moral standards Satan's hidden agenda? IF a major fight breaks out in a football stadium or in a maximum-security prison, then are female correctional officers and cops willing or even capable of using riot gear to restore law and order? Are female psychologists, prison wardens, nurses, and social workers equally equipped as men to provide counseling, anger management, empathy, and mental health services for men behind bars? During his formative years, can a single mother lead her son through the rites of passage or might she compromise his manhood and even psychologically castrate him to punish her baby's daddy? Moreover, does Feminism ever inculcate, teach, preach, or promote obeying the commandments of Allah, Buddha, the God of Abraham, Isaac, Jacob, or Jesus Christ? Theoretically, IF Satan wants to kill the Tree of Righteousness, then either he can cut it down or simply poison the roots and watch it die. Stated differently, is Feminism's modus operandi to please the Lord or to please Lucifer? Ergo, gentlemen, is it possible, plausible, probable, or preposterous to think that Feminism's Psychological Penis Complex is a consummate "weapon of mass destruction" of morality as well as masculinity throughout Americana? I rest my case.

In the context of global leadership, is it possible, plausible, probable, or preposterous to think that ASIAN civilization is superior to AMERICAN civilization, not only in terms of standardized test scores and erudition, but also in virtuous stewardship of human life on Planet Earth? A cursory examination of American medicine, for example, clearly indicates our lack of understanding and respect for the spiritual and physical "temple" known as the human body. Of course, our medical schools and pharmaceutical industry disavow the disastrous track record "pushing pills" has had on the mind and body in Western medicine. Yet, how does this compare to the track record of herbal medicine, acupuncture, and the Healing Arts in China, Japan and other Asian countries? With the United States' infant mortality rate higher than that of Singapore, Cuba, Taiwan, Montenegro, Hong Kong, South Korea, and Japan, et al., can we claim any gold, silver, or bronze medal? Beyond medicine, what is our global track record for deforestation, surface mining, fracking, and pollution? Not surprisingly, American classrooms fail to expose students to a truly global world view vis-a-vis Eurocentrism. Otherwise, they could see that the pugilistic American Empire is far more destructive to mankind and the virtues of human civilization than any other hegemon.

The four corners of the world would be well-advised to monitor closely our military industrial complex, NAFTA, AFRICOM, Oded Yinon's Greater Israel Plan, Operation Paperclip, Agenda 21, the Patriot Act, DARPA, the Bush Era's Authorization for Use of Military Force [AUMF], FEMA internment camps, the Military Commissions Act, and US policy goals of "sustainability" in a global context. Why? History has a way of repeating itself. For example, American History is replete with countless illustrations of avarice and ruthless exploitation of the earth's natural resources. Our public schools glorify westward expansion from New England to the Pacific Ocean via "Manifest Destiny" wherein the perennial modus operandi consisted of: [1] send in the troops, [2] take the indigenous people's land, [3] savagely marginalize and murder the natives with impunity, and [4] as always, get filthy rich exploiting their natural resources. Throughout North America and South America, Western hegemony routinely have assassinated tribal or national leaders and provided compulsory Euro-centric education in their territories and colonies in the New World. Thus, is it possible, plausible, probable, or preposterous to think that the New World Order is tantamount to a reprise of Colonialism and the Crusades? Is this Novus Ordo Seclorum a manifestation of the Antichrist hidden in plain sight? A critique of the invasion of IRAQ and the egregious hubris we've demonstrated throughout that region may indicate what "globalization" ultimately will look like. When NATO member countries commit genocide and other crimes against humanity either in Africa, Latin America, or in the Middle East, is their hubris prima facie evidence of complicity with British-American financial interests? Explain. The Bible affirms that in the Last Days, evil men will worship the creature more than the Creator of Heaven and Earth. Yet, righteous men are admonished to, "Set your affection on things above, not on things on the earth." Nevertheless, IF the love of money is the root of all evil, then is it possible, plausible, probable, or preposterous to think that the Rothschild's Industrial Complex is well on its way to overturning national sovereignty throughout the four corners of the world? I rest my case.

Long before the United States, Great Britain, or even the Roman Empire became a “superpower”, sagacious men ambulated throughout ancient China pondering the ideals of “justice”, “liberty”, “knowledge”, and “truth”. For example, centuries before the birth of Jesus Christ, Confucius said, “What you do not like done unto yourself, do not unto others.” Long before Pavlov, Plato understood that the human mind, like a sponge, absorbs those things it habitually contemplates. His theory of knowledge contrasted the thinking man and the unscientific man, wherein only the former passionately ferrets for insight concerning truth. The latter, Plato wrote, “perceives life amid disorder and confusion.” Thus, the unscientific man’s opinions often will consist of conflicting and vacillating beliefs that can be altered by another man’s appeal to his irrational emotions. Eureka! Was Plato prophesying about so called “political correctness” supplanting existential truths? Explain. Contemplate some of the United States’ unscientific propaganda regarding hegemony, torture, global warming, exceptionalism, 21st century Apartheid, eugenics, gender dysphoria, tolerance, and diversity. One easily could argue that American culture is, de facto, a Eurocentric matrix that is quintessentially intolerant of diversity. Are not the opinions millions of Americans hold adduced via television’s “sensory propaganda” more so than via knowledge of the truth? Although we pride ourselves in “democracy” as our form of government, is it possible, plausible, probable, or preposterous to think that the HD “idiot box” seduces many of us into becoming Orwellian proles and unscientific men? To those of us who are addicted to refilling our wine glasses with “refreshment” forthcoming from Big Brother’s telescreen, please don’t drink the bleach! Otherwise, your resultant thinking about politics, religion, morality, globalization, collateral damage, war crimes, and human rights invariably will become more obtuse and unscientific, to say the least. For example, in describing Ingsoc, George Orwell’s 1984 reads, “...he is forbidden the knowledge of foreign languages. If he were allowed contact with foreigners, he would discover that they are creatures similar to himself and that most of what he has been told about them is lies. The sealed world in which he lives would be broken, and the fear, hatred, and self-righteousness on which his morale depends might evaporate.” Enough said. WE can't fix it IF we can't face it.

IF ye then be risen with Christ, seek those things which are above, where Christ sitteth on the right hand of God. Set your affection on things above, not on things on the Earth. For ye are dead, and your life is hid with Christ in God. When Christ, who is our life, shall appear, then shall ye also appear with Him in glory. Mortify therefore your members which are upon the earth; fornication, uncleanness, inordinate affection, evil concupiscence, and covetousness, which is idolatry: For which things' sake the wrath of God cometh on the children of disobedience: In the which ye also walked some time, when ye lived in them. But now ye also put off all these; anger, wrath, malice, blasphemy, filthy communication out of your mouth. Lie not one to another, seeing that ye have put off the old man with his deeds; And have put on the new man, which is renewed in knowledge after the image of Him that created him: Where there is neither Greek nor Jew, circumcision nor uncircumcision, Barbarian, Scythian, bond nor free: but Christ is all, and in all. Put on therefore, as the elect of God, holy and beloved, bowels of mercies, kindness, humbleness of mind, meekness, longsuffering; Forbearing one another, and forgiving one another, if any man have a quarrel against any: even as Christ forgave you, so also do ye. And above all these things put on charity, which is the bond of perfectness. And let the peace of God rule in your hearts, to the which also ye are called in one body; and be ye thankful. Let the word of Christ dwell in you richly in all wisdom; teaching and admonishing one another in psalms and hymns and spiritual songs, singing with grace in your hearts to the Lord. And whatsoever ye do in word or deed, do all in the name of the Lord Jesus, giving thanks to God and the Father by Him. Wives, submit yourselves unto your own husbands, as it is fit in the Lord. Husbands, love your wives, and be not bitter against them. Children, obey your parents in all things: for this is well pleasing unto the Lord. Fathers, provoke not your children to anger, lest they be discouraged. Servants, obey in all things your masters according to the flesh; not with eyeservice, as men pleasers; but in singleness of heart, fearing God: And whatsoever ye do, do it heartily, as to the Lord, and not unto men; Knowing that of the Lord ye shall receive the reward of the inheritance: for ye serve the Lord Christ. But he that doeth wrong shall receive for the wrong which he hath done: and there is no respect of persons.
