

BLACK WOMEN'S MUSIC DATABASE

An Online Library of Africana Music

By Stephanie Y. Evans & Stephanie Shonekan

Black Women's Music Database chronicles over 700 Africana singers, songwriters, composers, and musicians from around the world. The database was created by Dr. Stephanie Evans, a professor of Black women's studies (intellectual history) and developed in collaboration with Dr. Stephanie Shonekan, a professor of Black studies and music (ethnomusicology). Together, with support from top music scholars, the Stephanies established this project to encourage interdisciplinary research, expand creative production, facilitate community building and, most importantly, to recognize and support Black women's creative genius. This database will be useful for music scholars and ethnomusicologists, music historians, and contemporary performers, as well as general audiences and music therapists.

Music heals. The purpose of the Black Women's Music Database research collective is to amplify voices of singers, musicians, and scholars by encouraging public appreciation, study, practice, performance, and publication, that centers Black women's experiences, knowledge, and perspectives. This project maps leading Black women artists in multiple genres of music, including gospel, blues, classical, jazz, R & B, soul, opera, theater, rock-n-roll, disco, hip hop, salsa, Afrobeat, bossa nova, soka, and more.

Study of African American music is now well established. Beginning with publications like The Music of Black Americans by Eileen Southern (1971) and African American Music by Mellonee Burnim and Portia Maultsby (2006), the study of a wide range of Black music has entered mainstream programs, particularly in ethnomusicology, primarily at institutions like Indiana, Boston, Pennsylvania, UCLA, and Berkeley. From the original surveys, there are now several readers in African American music, including Maultsby & Burnim, Issues in African American Music: Power, Gender, Race, Representation (2016) and volumes that focus specifically on Black women's music, such as Black Women and Music: More than the Blues (2007), Eileen Hayes & Linda Williams, How it Feels to Be Free: Black Women Entertainers in the Civil Rights Movement (2013), and Ruth Feldstein, Songs in Black and Lavender: Race, Sexual Politics, and Women's Music (2017). Monographs like Angela Davis's Blues Legacies and Black Feminism (1999) and Stephanie Shonekan's The Life of Camilla Williams: African American Classical Singer and Opera Diva (2011) have expanded the library of study.

An Online Library of Africana Music

Black Women's Music Database seeks to create an inclusive interdisciplinary dialogue about topics such as resistance and activism; race, gender, and sexuality; wellness and healing; training, tradition, improvisation, innovation, and more. This collection will bridge gaps between researchers, practitioners, educators, artists, and activists in a way that connects Black women around the world by centering race, gender, and music.
